THE Montreal Gazette has a novel kind of want in connection with the settlement of the fisheries question. The Canadians themselves want a good deal—pretty nearly the earth—in compensation for the privilege of fishing in their waters for cod not to be found there and for erratic mackerel which may be there or may not, as suits their roving habits. The Gazette's demand, however, is the coolest that has yet been made. Instead of expressing any desire for annexation to this country, it wants to take off a generous slice from Northern Maine and annex it to Canada as compensation for fish privileges! It says: "Canadians have long cast a longing eye on this territory, which they claim they have been cheated out of; and, though there is not the slightest probability of their claim to it being recognized, it is quite likely that the Canadian Commissioners will ask for it in return for the fishing privileges the American fishermen want." The Canadian Commissioners might as well ask for the whole of New England as for any portion of the State of Maine, or for Massachusetts, in which Maine was merged until 1820. The old boundary controversy was settled under the Washington treaty in 1842 by giving Canada a little slice in return for certain privileges of no great account, and she will have to be satisfied with that concession.

A STORY is told of the late Rev. William Drury, Vicar of Braddan, Isle of Man, to the effect that he was once on the rocks with a picnic party, when a sea bird known as a "diver" was seen on the water some little distance from the shore. The Vicar, who was then about 60 years of age, said, "Watch me catch that bird," and in a moment, without taking off any of his clothes, he rushed to the edge of the rocks and made a quick dive into the water. The bird dived too, but the Vicar caught it under the water and brought it ashore alive to the party.

GOD'S mercy would be a valuable commodity to many, if it could be sold in small quantities at high prices.

Senator Turpie.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 1.—The republican senators will caucus Monday on the case of Senator Turpie with a view of sending it to the committee on elections and privileges. Senator Voorhees and other democrats will object and a breezy scene is anticipated.

Speaker Carlisle says he will ask the house to elect the committee on elections by ballot.

Mr. Tom Hasler, assistant to City Civil Engineer Goshorn, completed his service to-day and will return to New York City.

"Honest Injun," our prices on men's and boys' heavy Boots are worthy your attention.

FOUR O'CLOCK P. M.

BIG FLAMES!

The Great Strobridge Lithographing Company's Works, at Cincinnati, Are Burned to the Ground.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 1.—At 1:30 this morning, a general alarm was sounded and called the entire fire department to the Strobridge Lithographing company's great building on the northeast corner of Elm and Canal streets. The flames enveloped the entire building, and in less than fifty minutes the walls fell in. The loss is total and will reach $200,000.

LATER.

The building was a five story fine structure and had a frontage of over 100 feet on the north side of the canal. It was filled with costly machinery, including fifteen lithographic presses. Its stock of paper and of finished and partly finished work was very large, and is estimated to be $100,000. Most of the winter work for theatrical companies was finished, but a large portion was still in the building and a number of them will be without material to properly bill their plays. During the fire a fireman, named John Shuler, who was on a ladder thirty-five feet from the ground, missed his footing and fell to the street, and was taken to the hospital, with injuries which may prove fatal. The business was probably the largest of the kind in the world. One hundred and twenty-five men were employed. Mr. Hines Strobridge, the president of the company, says he thought the building fire proof and is astonished it should all go as it did. Those in the building as tenants were James Barclay, job printer, and the Halstead Stocking company. Their loss will be about $10,000 each. The best estimate that can be made of the total loss is about $300,000, on which there was an insurance of $150,000, but the loss on business during the time of the enforced idleness cannot be accurately estimated. The building may be regarded as a total loss. Portions of the walls are left standing, but are worthless. The fire is still burning slowly today and engines are throwing water on it.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Dec. 1.—The large Windsor hotel is on fire and, with a heavy snow storm raging, the fire promises to ruin the entire building.

WM O'BRIEN.

His Cruel Treatment in the Tullamore Jail.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—Mr. O'Brien, in a letter smuggled from the Tullamore jail to his friend in Dublin, says: "The substance of Balfour's letter has been conveyed to me. Balfour's statement that I pleaded a weak action of the heart and delicate condition of the lungs as an excuse for not being forced to wear criminal clothes is a cruel falsehood. I am not aware of such weakness and certainly never declared it. The medical examiners never referred to this, my only weakness being in my left lung which does not trouble me at present.

"For six days after the committal I was subjected to constant threats of force, put on bread and water diet. When this proved fruitless I was led to believe that the point would not be insisted upon. Thereupon my clothes were stolen. Since securing new clothes, I have been unable to change them night or day for fear they will be stolen. No official intimation has yet been given to relieve me of this contined strain. This letter is the only means of vindicating myself against Mr. Balfours foul dishonoring imputations. Henceforth I shall not speak concerning my health. I do not take any nourshing food.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—A shock of earthquake was felt at Chorley county, of Lancaster at 7 o'clock this morning. A rumbling noise accompanied the shock. The buildings shook and the people left their houses greatly frightened. No serious damage was done.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—The queen will visit San Remo in January for a prolonged stay and the British consul at Genoa has received instructions to rent a villa at San Remo for her.

RELIGIOUS.

Rt. Rev. Bishop Dwenger Present at the Consecration of Father Scannel at Nashville.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 1.—Archbishop Feehan, of Chicago, who was for a long time bishop of Nashville, arrived in the city Tuesday to take part in the consecration of Father Scannel to the bishopric. The consecration was an event of the greatest interest here, as both Father Scannel and Archbishop Feehan are widely known. The ceremony took place at St. Joseph's church yesterday morning, beginning at 9 o'clock. Archbishop Feehan was assisted in the consecration services by Bishops Radenacher, of Nashville, and McCloskey, of Louisville. The sermon was by Archbishop Elder, of Covington. Bishops O'Sullivan, of Mobile, and Dwenger, of Fort Wayne, and Father Perrier, of Concordia, Kan.; Father Veale, of Memphis, and Father Walsh, of Chattanooga, took part in the ceremonies. Father Gull, of Chicago, was master of ceremonies, and acted as the archbishop's notary in the reading of the commission from the pope.

THE HARPER TRIAL.

J. W. Wilshire, the Good Looking Broker, Tells His Interesting Story on the Witness Stand.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 1.—The Harper trial was resumed this morning, with J. W. Wilshire, the good-looking broker, on the stand. His testimony, in chief, had been of the most direct nature, showing that he had purchased for Harper, in the Chicago market, about twenty millions of bushels of wheat, of which they were holding fourteen million when the crash came last June. The loss represented by the breaking of their corner was from three to four million dollars. He said he never could tell exactly what the total nominal loss was for the reason that his Chicago brokers had never rendered an account showing what had been realized on the closing out of their deal.

In every way he made it clear that Harper was his principal, that his checks on the Fidelity bank were not against any balance there to his credit, but that he was given to understand that they were to be protected by Harper. The first question asked by Major Blackburn for the defense brought out the fact that Wilshire had deposited checks aggregating $300,000 on the First National bank of this city and, $95,000 on the Merchants National bank with Fidelity where they were treated as cash.

He had not that amount of money in the two banks at the time the checks were drawn, but he did it because he was instructed so to do by Harper, whom he supposed to be abundantly able to take care of the checks. At this point the court took a recess until this afternoon.

Mr. Harper is still attended by his wife and her sister, and gives close attention to all that transpires. He has watched with eager interest the face of the witness, his broker, who has in plain words laid bare the entire transaction.

TURBULENT FRANCE.

M. Grevy is Urged to Remain in Office to Prevent a Revolution.

PARIS, Dec. 1.—Last night a number of French statesmen urged M. Grevy to retain the presidency of the French republic, as the election of M. Ferry to the position might lead to a revolution in France.

President Grevy this forenoon informed the ministerial council that in view of the change in the situation he did not propose to make a communication to parliament to-day. M. Rouvier will announce the decision of M. Grevy to the chamber of deputies and will again tender his resignation to the cabinet. It is reported that President Grevy will shortly form a new cabinet.

The official gazette publishes the withdrawal of the resignation of Rouvier. The withdrawal was made at the request of President Grevy. Threats were made of a revolutionary demonstration in front of the chamber of deputies to-day, but they are not regarded as serious. Extensive military and police precautions have been taken however to guard against an outbreak.

THE LATEST.

PARIS, Dec. 1.—At a ministerial council this morning President Grevy informed M. Rouvier he believed public opinion is now in his favor, and that he could form a new cabinet. It is said M. Flourens is trying to name a cabinet.

2 p. m.—Chamber of deputies took a recess until 4 p. m. and again until 6 p. m. The senate adjourned until 8 p. m.

Great crowds surround the legislative building and cries for Grevy, Ferry, Boulanger and the republic are heard. The crowd is orderly. There is no sign at present of a revolution.

Big Gas Well at Xenia.

WABASH, Dec. 1.—A tremendous flow of natural gas was struck yesterday at 1 o'clock in well No. 2, at Xenia, seventeen miles southwest of this city. Trenton rock was penetrated last Saturday, and a small flow encountered. Drilling proceeded, and to-day a gusher, which rivals that at Fairmount, was opened. The well is 950 feet deep and thirty-five feet in Trenton. A blaze sixty feet high issues from the mouth of a three-inch pipe to-night, and the owner is wild with excitement.

The Prohibition Convention.

CHICAGO, Dec. 1—The national prohibition conference met this morning at battery D. Dr. Herrick Johnson was designated as president. Quite a number of topics on the program will be discussed during the day. Among the speakers are: A. B. Leonard, Ohio; Mrs. Clara Hoffman, Missouri; Mrs. Mary A. Woodbridge, Ohio, and John L. Thomas, of Washington.

An Oil Well Fire.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Dec. 1.—The oil well at Cygnet, Ohio, the greatest gusher in the Ohio field, which caught fire one week ago, burned until yesterday, when the flames were extinguished. It is estimated that 350,000 barrels of oil have been consumed.

Jacob Sharp at Home.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Jacob Sharp was taken to the Sheriff's office to-day and gave bail in the sum of $40,000. He was discharged and went home.

The town of Monroeville to-day instituted proceeding's in the circuit court to enforce a sidewalk lien against Charles W. Rollins et al. R. S. Robertson and E. W. Meeks are attorney's for the town.

HENRY S. IVES!

The Young Napoleon to be Arrested for Unlawfully Converting $500,000 to His Own Use.

NEW YORK, Dec 1.—Assistant District Attorney Davis is preparing a formal complaint against Henry S. Ives and George H. Stayner, which will be presented early next week to the police justice and a warrant for their arrest asked for. The complaint will be sworn to by Lawyer Charles W. Cass, who has been active in trying to get Ives and Stayner indicted on the ground that they unlawfully converted to their own use about $500,000 worth of securities of the Mineral Range Railway company, which they controlled. Ives said yesterday that he was ready whenever wanted and had no fear of the result.

Mr. Ives this morning, in regard to the statement that he is again trying to get control of the C., H. and D. railroad, says that it is untrue, and Mr. Nelson Cromwell, his assignee, also makes a similar statement.

It is learned there are two syndicates quietly working for the control of this property and that by reason of this the stock has been strongly sustained, but that these people were entirely independent of Ives.

GAS NEWS.

The Gossip of the Day About Fort Wayne.

It is said that two more local companies will ask the council to grant them the right to pipe natural gas through the streets of Fort Wayne.

It is estimated that it will cost $25,000 to pipe Auburn for distributing the natural gas. Well No. 2, in Auburn, is going down rapidly. Rock was struck twenty-four feet nearer the surface than it was in the first well.

A good gas well has been struck in Huntingtan county, four miles south of Warren. And again the Wabash theory is exploded. Marion already has nine gas wells and two more are going down. Marion certainly has more gas than is needed for her own use.

President Charles McCulloch, of the Hamilton National bank, Hon. R. C. Bell, H. C. Graffe, A. Hattersley, B. S. O'Connor and Supt. W. W. Worthington were at Red Key this week, where they have big natural gas interests. They supply the town of Red Key with natural gas and are reaping a nice profit. This was Mr. McCulloch's first visit to the gas territory, and he is enthusiastic over the quality of natural gas there. He says it is a brighter and better illuminating gas than the manufactured gas in Fort Wayne, and what is still better, their supply is inexhaustible.

Mr. Bell, Mr. Graffe, Mr. Worthington and Mr. Hattersley, together with Hon. Wm. Fleming and John Ferguson, have big gas fields at Montpelier and own the best and closest gas territory to Fort Wayne. These syndicates must be depended on to pipe gas to Fort Wayne, if it is piped here at all.

The experiment now in progress of sinking the People's gas well with a view of striking a second layer of Trenton rock, will settle the question of the existence of gas in or near Fort Wayne.

Mr. G. W. Werntz, a prominent contractor from Auburn, came down this afternoon and said to Mr. C. A. Munson that the drillers in the second well had just encountered shale gas, with greater prospects of a gusher than the first well developed.

MRS. ED. BUSH.

She Asks $10,000 for the Killing of Her Husband in the Pittsburg Railroad Yards.

The accidental killing of Ed. Bush, a switchman in the Pittsburg and Fort Wayne railroad yards, last summer, is fresh in the minds of most people, as he was a popular man.

To-day Mrs. Bush filed suit against the Pennsylvania Railroad company, asking $10,000 damages and alleging that it was through the negligence of the company and its employes that Mr. Bush was killed.

Judge L. M. Ninde is her attorney and the action is before Judge Chapin.

The case of Elizabeth Miller vs. Jerr Nesbit is on trial in the circuit court and comes from Monroeville.

"So far, so good," said the boy after eating the stolen tart. After reviewing the thousands and tens of thousands of colds and coughs that have been conquered by Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup we can readily say, so far, so good.

Frank Bear, bar tender at the Occidental, was fined $18 to-day by Esquire Harding, for selling liquor last Sunday. Gerhardt Rekers is on trial before Justice France for selling liquor without a license.

Mrs. W. F. Yocum will render an organ solo at the Wayne street M. E. church, this evening.

GET OFF THE TRACK!

He Heard the Warning Cry, But it was not Heeded Until His Tramp was Finished.

The limited on the Pittsburg was an hour and a half late this morning.

The new moulding rooms of the Bass foundry are now running ninety-two men.

Four new gangs of men have been added to the east end Pittsburg car shops.

J. W. Beehler, of Lima, O., has taken a position in the Pittsburg machine shops.

The fuel bill of the Bass foundry and machine works amounts to over $20,000 a year.

Henry Welbruck, formerly with the Fort Wayne iron works, has taken a position in the Bass foundry.

The loafers at the railroad depots now gather around the hot stoves in the waiting rooms and stare at traveling people.

Frank Scheid, the Pittsburg machinist, in speaking of the horse he recently drew in the lottery says, "It can even kick a fly off its ear."

One more night has been added to the working time in the Pittsburg machine shops and the employes are now working five nights a week in that department.

President Roberts, of the Pennsylvania road, will order 50,000 tons of steel rails after January 1. and place the orders among the mills on the lines of that system.

The Olds wheel works have placed a number of new electric lights in their establishment lately so that the employes can work until 6 o'clock during the winter months.

S. C. Henderson, the foreman of the Pittsburg copper shops, has been short of gas pipes for engine flues for some time past, and now fully believes the employes, who have anarchistic tendencies, are using them up for the construction of their bombs.

There are a number of young men in the railroad service in this city who have commenced to climb the ladder of railroad promotion, and for their encouragement we desire to remind that the income of Jay Gould, the great railroad magnate, is $1,000 an hour.

C. L. Daseler, the pleasant and popular clerk in the Pittsburg car shops, will be married early in January to a charming young lady of this city, who lives in the east end. Christ has a host of friends among the boys in the shop, and they will pour congratulations upon him thick and fast.

The employes of all the railroads have had their time for the month of November sent in to headquarters and they are now anxiously waiting for the next pay day. When it comes they will still have half a month's wages due them. This arrangement always leaves a railroad man with a snug little sum to fall back on in case he should lose his situation.

The report flew around in railroad circles last evening that Michael Huntine, of the Wabash pumping department, had been found murdered in the big woods near this city. Michael left early last evening for Delphi to look after some work down there and will return to-night to hear, for the first time, of the dreadful fate that overtook him in the big woods.

Yesterday afternoon, while James Noonan, an employe in the blacksmith shops of the Bass foundry, was cutting a bar of red hot iron, a chip flew off and hit him in the eye, causing a severe and painful injury. He was compelled to quit work, and suffers so from the injury received that he will not resume his position again for several days.

J. A. Reilly, the jovial machinist in the Pittsburg shops, is in receipt of a telegram from his best girl who lives at Erie, Pa., chiding him for his neglect in writing. The telegram reads thusly: "Have you given up the ghost? Let the tender wires return me a message and not permit my best hopes to be crushed. C. O. D." The message cost "J. A." just $1.25.

The Indianapolis Journal says: "The Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago road for the next ten days cannot receive freight, except live stock and perishable goods, for any point east on account of a crowd of business. The New York, Chicago and St. Louis road also give notice that they cannot receive freight until further notice, via the Erie Dispatch, middle division, for the same reason." THE SENTIEL reporter enquired concerning the truth of the above statement at this point, and the officials of both the Pittsburg and Nickel Plate railroads says that such a blockade of freight has existed here to a certain extent. The Pitsburg company is not so much effected by it as the Nickel Plate, who have been refusing through freight from other roads for several days and have also been considerably embarrassed in the handling of their local freight. Mr. F. H. Barnard, the agent of the Nickel plate, tells our reporter that freight has accumulated to a considerable extent in their freight house here but that live stock and perishable goods have been taken care of. The blockade he says however is about over and in a few days the road will be able to handle all their freight traffic. The blockade resulted from the scarcity of cars.

GONE WRONG!

A Young Cincinnati Attorney Disappears With His Affianced Bride's Watch and a Diamond Ring.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 1.—J. L. Eichelberger, a young attorney, has been missing from his home since last Thanksgiving day, with several crooked transactions developed. Among them is obtaining a gold watch from his affianced bride, and a diamond ring from a jeweler of his acquaintance on false pretenses. Besides these, it appears that an endorsement on a note given by Eichelberger is pronounced by the endorsers to be a forgery. Eichelberger was to have been married on Thanksgiving, but postponed the ceremony until Christmas. His friends fear he has taken his life.

ST. AUGUSTINE'S ACADEMY.

A Very Pleesant School Entertainment By the Pupils.

On last Friday afternoon the senior and music classes of St. Augustine's Academy gave their annual entertainment in honor of St. Catherine of Alexandria, who confuted and converted to christianity the forty heathen philosophers assembled by order of Maximin II to dispute with her, and of St. Cecilia. Their former saint being their patron of studies; the latter of music. The church commemorates the feast of St. Cecilia on November 22, and that of St. Catherine on November 25.

Every feature of the well-selected program was so highly interesting that all present listened with breathless attention throughout the entire rendition. The ease, elegance and correctness with which the various parts were performed, give the strongest evidence that the sisters in charge of St. Augustine's Academy teach most thoroughly from the very outstart—for immediate training alone could not give such finish in composition, recitation and execution as were witnessed last Friday afternoon.

Misses M. Hedekin. A. Summers and J. Fleming deserve special mention for their marked improvement in shading and execution on the piano, also Miss M. Buckley, whose voice possesses much depth of feeling.

But in the minds of these classes the most important and pleasant feature of the evening were the very eloquent and beautiful remarks made by Very Rev. Father Brammer at the close of the entertainment, in his usual happy, effective and practical style. His words of paternal counsel and encouragement are of priceless value to the young ladies of St. Augustine's Academy and are treasured by them as such.

MASON & HAMLIN ORGANS

The cabinet organ was introduced in its present form by Mason & Hamlin in 1861. Other makers followed in the manufacture of these instruments, but the Mason & Hamlin Organs have always maintained their supremacy as the best in the world. Mason & Hamlin offer, as demonstration of the unequalled excellence of their organs, the fact that all of the great World's Exhibitions, since that of Paris, 1867, in competition of the best makers of all countries, they have invariably taken the highest honors. Illustrated catalogues free.

PIANOS. Mason & Hamlin's Piano Stringer was introduced by them in 1882, and has been pronounced by experts the "greatest improvement in pianos in half a century."

Letter From the Assistant Foreman of the Delivery Department—A Subject in Which Thousands are Deeply Interested,

About five years ago I suffered from pain, ful urination and great pain and weakness in the lower part of my back, pain in the limbs, bad taste in the mouth, disgust at food, and great mental and bodily depression.

I live at 241 York street, Jersey City, and on arriving home one night I found a copy of the Shaker Almanac that had been left during the day. I read the article, "What is this Disease that is Coming Upon Us?" It described my symptoms and feeling better than I could if I had written a whole book. My trouble was indeed "like a thief in the night," for it had been stealing upon me unawares for years. I sent for a bottle of Shaker Extract of Roots, or Seigel's Syrup, and before I had taken one-half of it I felt the welcome relief. In a few weeks I was like my old self. I enjoyed and digested my food. My kidneys soon recovered tone and strength, and the urinary troubled vanished. I was well.

Millions of people need some medicine simply to act on the bowels. To them I commend Shaker Extract in the strongest possible terms. It is the gentlest, pleasantest, safest and surest purgative in this world. The most delicate women and children may take it. One point more; I have all the more confidence in this medicine because it is prepared by the Shakers. I may claim to be a religious man myself and I admire the Shakers for their zeal, consistency and strict business integrity. What they make may be trusted by the public.

THURSDAY, DEC. 1, 1887.

SENATOR GEORGE G. VEST, of Missouri, does not look to be close upon 60 years of age, and yet he is dangerously near it. If there be anything he prides himself on more than his oratory it is his youthful looks. He is one of the gentlest, jolliest, and best-natured members of the Senate, and though somewhat partisan and ready to break a lance in political debate at any moment, he has as many friends among the Republican members of the Senate as he has upon his own side of the chamber. He is not a good-looking man by any means, but he has a jaunty way of carrying himself that makes one forget that. He has a small, rotund face with a wide, straggling gray mustache half hiding the wrinkles that his years are gathering upon him, and his big, wide-brimmed dark slouch hat is the picturesque part of his apparel that he never omits.

A BOSTON man has a twin brother living in the West who looks very much like him. The other morning the Boston twin, after being shaved, went home and found there his brother, who had just come East. The Western twin needed shaving badly, and was directed to the barber-shop. He entered and seated himself, but the barber paid no attention to him, "What's the matter with you?" said the Western twin after waiting long enough. "Why don't you shave me?" "Why, I've just shaved you," said the barber. "Much you did," said the twin. "Look at my face." The barber looked at a big black beard of a week's growth, felt of it to assure himself that his eye was not deceiving him, and burst out: "If you can raise a beard like that in twenty minutes you'd better go into the mattress business!"

AMONG other beauties and phenomena Griffin possesses probably the only young child in Georgia who would deliberately lie down on the railroad track for the novel pleasure of seeing a train of cars pass over his body, says the News of that city. Possibly there may be something in the nerve of the name given him by his parents that inspired Gilman Drake Tutwiler, the 5-year-old urchin who now has to be kept in the house to prevent a repetition af such action. Almost everybody has seen this child, with a gravity above his age, running around the streets, a little, fat bit of humanity, seeking knowledge and associates among men rather than among the infants, of which he is really one. One day not long ago he got on the cowcatcher of a Georgia Midland locomotive to take a ride, but fell off upon the track, where he lay while the engine and train passed over him, rising up at the rear end of the train uninjured and chuckling at the adventure. So amusing was it that a few days afterward he went down to the track and deliberately laid down in front of the locomotive, unseen by the engineer, for the purpose of repeating the episode and again succeeded in escaping without injury. But his singular predilections were discovered and he has since been forbidden the track by the maternal authority and has his freedom curtailed in a manner that must prove very irksome to his adventurous disposition.

THERE is a popular belief throughout England that only three farthings were struck in all Queen Anne's reign. Two of these farthings are supposed to be in the hands of the British Government, but the third is still in circulation and of fabulous value to the lucky man who secures it. Now the truth is that there was no less than eight different coinings of the Queen Anne's farthing, and, as far from being rare, it is worth absolutely nothing to the collector; but this fact, although published again and again, is powerless to destroy its reputation. Now and then a poor countryman finds one in his possession, and believes his fortune made until he is rudely undeceived when he tries to sell his treasure. Once a Yorkshire laborer walked all the way to London, with his wife tramping wearily by his side, solely in order to secure the highest possible bidder for the mysterious farthing which was to buy him a farm of his own. Once a shopboy spied such a coin in his master's till, and, unable to resist the temptation, he stole it, leaving another in its place. For weeks the foolish lad went about dreaming of his good fortune, until his desire for riches overcame his prudence, and he rashly offered the prize for sale. Explanation followed, and his master learning of the transaction at once had the boy arrested. Now, although his intentions were dishonest, the latter had really stolen nothing, for the farthing he put in the till was quite as good as the one he took out; but the fame of the Queen Anne coin proved his undoing. The jury could not be brought to look upon it as a common bit of money, worth only its face value, and the unfortunate apprentice was actually found guilty of robbery and sentenced to twelve months' imprisonment, being thus punished not for the wrong he did, but for the wrong he meant to do.

JASPER DOUGLAS PYNE, the Irish member of Parliament who has shut himself up in a castle from which he harangues land-league audiences, is an Englishman by birth and is the only Englishman in the Parnellite party. His father was a Church of England clergyman. He is a tenant of the Duke of Devonshire, Lord Hartington's father, and is described as a tall, dark, distinguished-looking man with a pronounced English accent. He is a great favorite with the Southern Irish, and was elected to Parliament from his own district without opposition. He is one o the numerous Englishmen of whom the London Spectator complains. He has become more Irish than the Irish themselves.

PREHISTORIC AMERICA.

Its Legends, Monuments, and Languages—Vast Antiquity of the American Race.

Abstract of an address before the Section of Anthropology of the American Association for the Advancement of Science at New York, by Dr. Daniel G. Brinton, Vice President and Chairman of the section: The prehistoric period of America dates back from the discovery of the several parts of the continent; and the problem is to reconstruct the history of the various nations who inhabit both Americas in this period. A review of the means at our command to accomplish this divides them into six classes:

I. Legendary.—This includes the legends or traditions of the native tribes. These often bear a strong resemblance to Semitic or other Oriental myths, but the similarity is a coincidence only, and those writers are led astray who count it for more. The annals of the Mexicans, the Mayas, of Yucatan, and Quichuas, of Peru, carry us scarcely five hundred years before the voyage of Columbus, although the contrary is often stated. The more savage tribes practically remember nothing more remote than a couple of centuries.

II. Monumental.—The most famous monuments are the stone buildings of Mexico, Yucatan, and Peru. By many these are assigned an antiquity of thousands of years; but a calm weighing of the testimony places them all well within our era, and most of them within a few centuries of the discovery. The celebrated remains of Tiahuanuco, in Peru, are no exception. Much more ancient are some of the artificial shell-heaps along the coast. They contain bones and shells of extinct species, in intimate connection with stone implements and pottery. They furnish data to prove that the land was inhabited several thousand years ago.

III. Industrial.—The industrial activity of man in America may be traced by the remains of his weapons, ornaments, and tools, made of stone, bone, and shell. In most of the deposits examined, specimens of polished stone and pottery testify to a reasonably developed skill; but in the Trenton gravels and a few other localities genuine palæolithic remains have been found, putting man in America at a date coevil with the close of the glacial age, if not earlier. The vast antiquity of the American race is further proved by the extensive dissemination of maize and tobacco—tropical plants of Southern Mexico, which were cultivated from the latitude of Canada to that of Patagonia.

IV. Linguistic.—It is believed that there are about two hundred radically different languages in North and South America. Such a confusion of tongues could only have arisen in hundreds of centuries. The study of these languages and of the gradual growth of their dialects, supplies valuable data for the ancient history of the continent.

V. Physical.—The American race is as distinctively a race by itself as is the African or white race. Although varying in many points, it has a marked fixedness of ethnic anatomy, and always has had. The oldest American crania, collected from the most ancient quaternary deposits, are thoroughly American in type.

VI. Geologic.—As the discovery of implements in glacial deposits locates man on this continent at least at the close of the glacial epoch, this carries his residence here to about 35,000 years ago. But there is no likelihood that he came into being on this continent. He could not have developed from any of the known fossil mammilia which dwelt here. More probably some colonies first migrated along the preglacial land-bridge, which once connected Northern America with Western Europe. Later, others came from Asia. At that time the physical geography of the Northern Hemisphere was widely different from the present.

These various data have as yet been but imperfectly studied; when they shall have received the attention they merit we may confidently calculate on a large increase in our knowledge of the course of events in ancient America.

"Yes."

"But you do not intend to marry her?"

"Why not?"

"Is it possible that you have not heard?"

"Heard what?"

"That she has, at different times, sued five men for breach of promise?"

"Yes, I heard that."

"And still you intend to marry her?"

"Of course. She won all the suits, and as I am a lawyer, I cannot help but admire her skill. She will make me an able partner, old boy, and business is so slow with me that I cannot afford to let such an opportunity slip through my fingers."—Arkansaw Traveler.

Biliousness.

We have tested its virtues, personally, and know that for Dyspepsia, Biliousness and Throbbing Headache, it is the best medicine the world ever saw; we tried forty other remedies before Simmons Liver Regulator, but none of them gave us more than temporary relief; the Regulator not only relieved but cured us.—H. ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferers at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub wakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Wrong

To imagine that the treatment of Constipation consists merely in unloading the bowels. The medicine must not only act as a purgative, but be a tonic as well, and not produce after its use greater costiveness. This is what Simmons Liver Regulator always does.

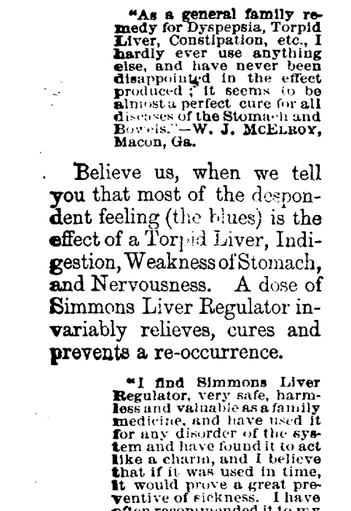

> "As a general family remedy for Dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc., I hardly ever use anything else, and have never been disappointed in the effect produced; it seems to be almost a perfect cure for all diseases of the Stomach and Bowels."—W. J. McELROY, Macon, Ga.

Believe us, when we tell you that most of the despondent feeling (the blues) is the effect of a Torpid Liver, Indigestion, Weakness of Stomach, and Nervousness. A dose of Simmons Liver Regulator invariably relieves, cures and prevents a re-occurrence.

> "I find Simmons Liver Regulator, very safe, harmless and valuable as a family medicine, and have used it for any disorder of the system and have found it to act like a charm, and I believe that if it was used in time, it would prove a great preventive of sickness. I have often recommended it to my friends, and shall continue to do so."—Rev. JAMES. M. ROLLINS, Fairfield, Va.

Simmons Liver Regulator is given with safety and with the happiest results, in almost any ailment, to the most delicate infant as well as to the adult. For all diseases in which a laxative, alterative, or purgative is needed, it will give the most perfect satisfaction. It is the cheapest, purest and best Family Medicine in the world.

Price $1. Sold by all Druggists. Prepared by J. H. ZEILIN & Co., Philadelphia, Pa.

The treatment of many thousands of cases of those chronic weaknesses and distressing ailments peculiar to females, at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., has afforded a vast experience in nicely adapting and thoroughly testing remedies for the cure of woman's peculiar maladies.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the outgrowth, or result, of this great and valuable experience. Thousands of testimonials, received from patients and from physicians who have tested it in the more aggravated and obstinate cases which had baffled their skill, prove it to be the most wonderful remedy ever devised for the relief and cure of suffering women. It is not recommended as a "cure-all," but as a most perfect Specific for woman's peculiar ailments.

As a powerful, invigorating tonic, it imparts strength to the whole system, and to the womb and its appendages in particular. For "overworked," "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, exhaustion, prostration, hysteria, spasms and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womb. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a legitimate medicine, carefully compounded by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate organization. It is purely vegetable in its composition and perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system. For morning sickness, or nausea, from whatever cause arising, weak stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia and kindred symptoms, its use, in small doses, will prove very beneficial.

"Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of leucorrhea, excessive flowing, painful menstruation, unnatural suppressions, prolapsus, or falling of the womb, weak back, "female weakness," anteversion, retroversion, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb, inflammation, pain and tenderness in ovaries, accompanied with "internal heat."

As a regulator and promoter of functional action, at that critical period of change from girlhood to womanhood, "Favorite Prescription" is a perfectly safe remedial agent, and can produce only good results. It is equally efficacious and valuable in its effects when taken for those disorders and derangements incident to that later and most critical period, known as "The Change of Life."

"Favorite Prescription," when taken in connection with the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and small laxative doses of Dr. Pierce's Purgative Pellets (Little Liver Pills), cures Liver, Kidney and Bladder diseases. Their combined use also removes blood taints, and abolishes cancerous and scrofulous humors from the system.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee, from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years.

Large bottles (100 doses) $1.00, or six bottles for $5.00.

DRAWBACKS TO THE NATION.

It Cannot Develop While Detectives Hold Requisitions for Leading Citizens.

[Dakota Bell.]

"You wanter know what's holdin' this country back, d'ye?" said a man in Green River City, Wyoming who had a beard like a woven-wire mattress which had been struck by a cyclone and rolled together as a scroll; "you ask what's holdin' it down," he continued, as he led me over by a faro table which was not in use; "you desire information as to what's retardin' its development an' causin' it to languish by the wayside, as it were? I can tell you, stranger. I can sum it up in two words an' give it to you at one dose. It is Eastern detectives—bloodhounds of the law, that drag away our most successful citizens!

"What can you expect of a country where the Eastern detective comes in and demands requisitions for all the leadin' citizens? With the icy hand of the detective laid on the Mayors of our principal cities, how can our country develop? With the Pennsylvania Sheriff sneakin' up behind the president of our national bank and identifyin' him, how can you look for progress?

"As long as one of Pinkerton's men can come into our otherwise peaceful an' prosperous communities, look at a photograph, an' then adjust a pair of time-lock handcuffs on the principal of our schools, how can you come among us an' ask us with a holler sneer why we don't boom?

"Stranger, what is there to induce us to git up an' whoop an' develop the country, with leg irons on the pastor of the First Baptist Church?

"Why should we invest our money in business with a Sheriff from Massachusetts an' a detective from Ohio each with separate warrants an' each on a fast hoss chasin' our Probate Jedge acrost the divide?

"Why should I feel encouraged an' cheerful with the City Attorney bein' tried in North Carolina? Would you yourself feel like settlin' down in a country an' makin' a home with the Superintendent of the Union Sunday-School gittin' onto the east-bound train chained to the editor of the mornin' paper?

"My friend, I don't think you would; I am pos'tive you would not, 'specially if you didn't know but what it might be your turn next, as you probbly would.

"This country can never become thickly and permanently settled as long as the Eastern officer who has raked up some old charge agin a prom'nent member of the community can walk in an' ply his vocation unrestrained by the strong arm of the law. As long as it is possible, while a meetin' of the leadin' cap'talists is bein' held to devise means for establishin' a woolen factory or to raise a bonus for a new railroad, as long as it is possible on such an occasion, I repeat, for a paid spy from a rival town to sneak in the back door of the hall an' yell: 'Eastern detective comin!' an' then stand and watch the president of the savin's bank an' the Circuit Jedge break their legs as they fall out of the winder an subsequently git tramped into the ground by the crowd; as long as this is poss'ble, I again say, jes' so long will progress languish.

"While a man can stand in our theater an' holler 'fire!' an' not cause anybody to look around, an' another man can stampede the audience acrost the stage by pullin' out a paper an' a pair of handcuffs, jes' so long will our nat'ral resources remain dormant, as it were.

"When you go into the country where it is to the people's interest to pay a man to stand at the depot an' holler a warnin' to the bus'ness men when a stranger gits off the train, you may look to find that country undeveloped an' not be disap'inted.

"That, my friend, is about all I've got to say. That is about all there is to it. If you had, like me, lived to see the iron hand of the minion of the law from the other side of the Mississippi reach up an' lay holt of the Fourth of July orator; if you had seen it still the Mayor while addressin' the City Council; if you had ever stood by an' seen it even come into the Sunday-school picnic, an' while the Superintendent was addressin' the infant class, reach ruthlessly out an' drag him away on a charge of arson, committed back in Maine in 1868; if you had ever witnessed such scenes as them, I say, you would never have asked why this country is not built up an' made to prosper. It only shows your ignorance, an' I hope you won't ask any more such foolish questions."

Syrup of Figs.

Manufactured only by the California Fig Syrup Co., San Francisco, Cal., is Nature's own true laxative. This pleasant California liquid fruit remedy may be had of Theime and Gross, druggists, large bottles at fifty cents or one dollar. It is the most pleasant, prompt, and effective remedy known to cleanse the system; to act on the Liver, Kidneys, and bowels gently yet thoroughly; to dispel Headaches, Colds and Fevers; to cure Constipation, Indigestion, and kindred ills.

I have been bothered with catarrh for about twenty years; I had lost sense of smell entirely for the last fifteen years, and I had almost lost my hearing. My eyes were getting so dim I had to get some one to thread my needle. Now I have my hearing as well as I ever had, and I can see to thread as fine a needle as ever I did, my sense of smell is partly restored, and it seems to be improving all the time. I think there is nothing like Ely's Cream Balm for catarrh.—Mrs. E. E. Grimes, 67 Valley St., Rendrill, Perry Co., Ohio.

Hen Talk.

As an example of bird language, the ordinary domestic fowl presents the most interesting and perfect range, so common that it is rarely considered or reflected upon; not a few will be astonished at the vocal possibilities of the hen if they will give the subject a little investigation.

Knowing that the hen has a voice, we assume that its office is to afford communication between individuals. Half an hour in a farmyard will beyond question demonstrate this, and that certain sounds are the equivolents of words. The crow of a cock is assuredly a challenge, the moment another bird is noticed, and is kept up, either in advance or retreat. It is sounded in the morning in answer to others, and is comparable to the challenge or war cry of many savage tribes, or even the answering shouts of college boys or men, that are unexplainable on other grounds than a challengo of merits.

Observing closely our rooster, accompanied by his family, we notice that the hens pay no attention to the challenge; but let him find some delicacy, he utters a succession of short notes, "Tuck, tuck, tuck, tuck!" upon which the others rush about him, eager to share. Again if a hawk flies overhead, the cock, guardian of the flock, raises his head and utters a prolonged note, as different from the former as possible: "Ka-r-r-r-e," he seems to say, which translated into English means, "Look out for the hawk! run!" and immediately hens and chickens duck their heads and rush for cover. Now let a dog dart at the head of this family, and listen to the clucks and other sounds coming fast and furious—protests in every intonation.

The hen cannot crow, but she has in other respects as perfect control of language as her master. Indeed, she can sing; purely a self-congratulatory performance expressive of deep contentment and complete satisfaction, heard when hens are let out and they are running for food, and upon warm days in spring it is a "kerr, kerr, kerr," differing in its modulation and intonation in individuals. How different is this from the sharp "cluck, cluck" of the motherhen. The latter is a general warning to everybody, and plainly says, "I have a young family and must be let alone." If a grain is found how suddenly that is changed to the quick call, "Tuck, tuck, tuck!" upon hearing which the little ones come rushing pell-mell; and they understand it the moment they leave the shell. Indeed, the different notes or "baby talk" of a hen are of great variety. "No one would think of saying that the 'cut-cut-ca-da-cut' was a call. It says as plain as words can tell, "I have laid an egg," and the bright little egg-hunter who hears immediately starts for the hayloft, as a favorite hound of mine was in a habit of doing. She understood hen language, and fed upon freshly laid eggs some time before I discovered that she was such a linguist. The moment "cut-cut-ca-da-cut" was heard she trotted into the hen-coop.

When the little chicks are nestled under the mother another sound is heard, a prolonged hoarse "c-r-a-w-z-z-e, c-r-a-w-z-z-e," which I copy from a happy mother in my possession, without the aid of a phonograph. Enter a chicken-coop at night, and a soft whistling noise is made, a gentle chirping by the birds, sounding something like "w-h-o-i-e," rapidly repeated. that speaks plainly of apprehension. If a chicken is seized by the leg the "c-r-a-i-a-i-o-u, c-r-a-i-a-i-o-u" that follows could never be constructed into anything but a wail of anguish. So if we commence a dictionary of the domestic fowl-language we might have the following as a basis:

Ur-ka-do-dle-do-o-o. Challenge of male.

Tuck, tuck, tuck. Food call of male.

K-a-r-r-e. Announcing presence of hawk.

Cut-cut-ca-da-cut. Announcement of egg-laying.

Cluck, cluck, cluck. Call of young.

Kerr, kerr, kerr. Song of contentment of hen.

C-r-a-w-z-z-e. Quieting young chicks.

W-h-o-o-i-e (whistle). Expression of apprehension at night.

C-r-a-i-a-i-o-u. Terror and protest of capture.

These sounds of course vary in individuals; that is in the intonation, as, like persons, no two birds can utter the same vocal sounds.—C. F. Holder, in Wide Awake.

THE BEST WAY.

A hurt to any part of the body by contusion, caused by coming in contact violently with some other body, the contused blood in the part injured showing a dark mark to the extent of the hurt, is a bruise. As to the effect of such injuries, great or small, natural action is disturbed, the veins are clogged, circulation impeded, congestion sets in and pains ensue. Nature is impatient of any impediment to its regular order; it tries to force the circulation through its proper channels thus clogged and pain intensifies. It may in minor hurts after long and painful efforts restore the functions and by slow degrees heal itself, but pain is its signal of distress, and the greater the pain the louder it calls for help, and so long as pain lasts, it needs that help. What is that help? Something that will penetrate deeply, stimulate and soothe, and by vigorous applications subdue the congestion. With nature's aid it clears away the obstructions, heals the injured tissue and restores. How quickly this can be done is seen in the rapid disappearance of the black marks, and this is the specific action, the healing process of St. Jacobs Oil. It is the thing needed and just what nature calls for in the cure of bruises, as thousands testify who have tried it. But the conditions in cuts and wounds are a little different, although the principles of healing are the same. The tissues are separated, lacerated and torn apart, besides being bruised, and nature's effort is intensified in trying to bring the parts together to begin the process of healing. Hardly any one would pour into a gaping wound a remedy for relief, but so soon as nature brings together the parts and they adhere, which is almost instantly, St. Jacobs Oil, used in accordance with directions for use which accompany every bottle, will magically knit together these parts and confirm the action of nature by a perfect cure.

THURSDAY, DEC. 1, 1887.

THE CITY NEWS.

This is the first day of December.

The hotels are doing a brisk business.

Coffee is named after Mount Caffa, Abyssinia.

The Academy drew another big house last night.

Secure seats for "Photos." The sale began this morning with a rush.

One side of Calhoun street is laid with cedar blocks and the other is not.

Mr. A. C. Trentman and Mr. Hubert Berghoff went west on the Wabash this morning.

Mrs. George Franz, of No. 72 Melita street, has gone to Lawrenceburg, Ind., to visit her parents.

Pensions have been granted to the widow of John Cancy, of Roanoke, just west of Fort Wayne.

The Clement A. Roy counterfeiting case has been transferred from Indianapolis to this city for trial.

"One of the Bravest" party, a successful Academy attraction, went to Wapakaneta, Ohio, this morning.

A correspondent to the Ligonier Banner is booming Charley Green, treasurer of Noble county, for congress.

The grand melodrama, "Lights of London," will be presented at the Masonic Temple Tuesday, Dec. 6.

Miss Alice Harrison, supported by her own company of comedians, will present "Photos" at the Temple Saturday evening.

The Warsaw Times calls a halt on Speaker Sayre, and requests in a roundabout way that he cease airing his notions.

Parties living along the mail route to Hall's Corners are circulating a petition for the extension of the service to Hicksville, O., a distance of ten miles.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Evans, of 296 Hanna street, returned home to-day after a two week's stay at Crestline, Ohio, where they had been called on account of sickness.

The Soldene party went to Lima, O., this morning. The people of "One of the Bravest" were on the same train, but never speak as the telegraph poles flit pleasantly by.

Monday, Dec. 12, the voters of Columbia City will vote upon the question, "city or no city." This will be the third time the effort has been made to change the form of government in that town.

Hiram Werst, of Wabash, one of J. E. Dane's gang of Wabash railroad bridge carpenters, was severely injured at the new freight depot, at Huntington, yesterday. He was at work upon a scaffold and fell ten feet.

Cars on the side track of the Fort Wayne, Cincinnati and Louisville road at Montpelier ran upon the main track. The local freight came along and run into them. Five cars were wrecked and the engine slightly damaged.

The Emily Soldene company advertised the celebrated Dare brothers, acrobats. They failed to put in an appearance last night, and consequently the audience was cheated out of one of the best features of the performance. The management offered no excuse for their absence.

The Warsaw Times says: "Thereon P. Keator passed through this place this morning on his woy to Goshen, South Bend and other points in northern Indiana, and while here he gave us a brief call. Mr. Keator possesses the ability to enliven the sanctum of most any newspaper establishment, and we were pleased to see him."

Thomas J. Immel, W. W. Dukes and Milton Shirk, owners of the canal at Lafayette, who were indicted by the grand jury on the charge of maintaining a nuisance, have been arrested and are now under bond to appear in the circuit court there next Saturday, Dec. 3, to answer that charge.

Since Thursday last, Wm. Shafer and Frank Arlin have been on trial at Columbia City for attempting to kill James Washburn on the night of October 17th. The theory of the prosecution was, that there was a conspiracy to do the killing, between Rouse, Arlin and Shafer. The jury fined Arlin and Shafer $100 each and sent them to jail for six months. T. J. Logan, of Fort Wayne, reported the evidence.

The Florida orange is making its appearance in the market. Now the choicest Florida orange is that which grows in the vicinity of the Black river, and has a dark tinge upon its cuticle, as if half-shined by an itinerant boot-black. But the ingenious Dago, being well aware of this fact, so artfully arranges that all of his Florida oranges present the most desirable dark-skinned appearance. Nor is this all. After the Florida orange passes away there takes its place as the choice feature of the market the little blood-red orange, sweet and juicy as a hasheesh dream. These the artists manufacture by inserting in the neck of a white orange a tiny glass syringe, filled with a sweetened analine dye. So wags the world away.

Our readers will remember the cold wave that struck us last Saturday a week. The Portland Sun, published in a gas town, tells how it worked there: "A cold wave swooped down upon us, Saturday night, and on Sunday morning there was consternation, dismay and cuss words all over the city, caused by a sudden and provoking failure of the gas in many instances, to supply heat for cooking and warming purposes. The quiet of the Sabbath day was broken by the hustle to keep warm, and old boards, pine boxes, and everything burnable was sacrificed, up to the legs of the kitchen table. It seems the gas pipes were frozen up where exposed and which caused the trouble."

Madam Bloomfield at the Temple to-night.

Deputy County Treasurer Cas Hunter is quite sick.

Mr. E. J. Pennington is out of the city on business.

Mr. H. J. Parry, of the Hoosier shoe store, was at Bluffton yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dreibelbiss will entertain the Baptist social to-night.

Summit City Lodge, No. 170, F. and A. M., elect officers to-morrow night.

The county commissioners will meet in regular December session next Monday.

Fleming & Pape have erected a three story addition to their road scraper works.

Rockhill Bros. and Fleming shipped a fine Strathmore colt to Lima, Ohio, yesterday.

Sammy Albrecht, of the News office, has taken a position in the Old New National bank.

Shone & Wellman have a novel exhibition of artificial flowers in the show window of their mortuary room.

John Lehnemann, the son of Mrs. Lehnemann, a widow living in Nebraska, was taken to the city hospital to-day

Mr. C. B. Woodworth said the workmen expected to begin work on the new gas well on the Brookside farm to-day.

Mrs. Justina Boseuf, of Arcola, died of peritonitis, yesterday morning, aged sixty-six years. The funeral occurred to-day.

Mrs. W. T. Yocum, Miss Ida Kellogg and Miss Julia Wilson participate in the concert at the Wayne street M. E. church to-night.

Mrs. Tony DeWald pleasantly entertained the ladies of L'Orphelin club yesterday afternoon at her home on Fairfield avenue.

Another hitch is announced in the Wabash reorganization scheme, which it was thought a week ago would be effected at once.

Mary J. Greenwell sues W. S. Hunter et al. for a partition of the estate of Wm. T. Hunter. W. G. Colerick is counsel for the plaintiff.

Dr. A. J. Laubach, executor of the estate of Dr. Trexler, sues C. M. Comparet for $200. W. G. Colerick is counsel for the claimant.

Mrs. C. B. Oakley is entertaining her son, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Franklin, who have won much fame before the foot lights in comedy business.

The funeral of Washington Hill, the young man who was killed by falling off of a building at St. Louis a few days ago, took place this afternoon at Aboite.

Phillip Froelick was fined $10 by the mayor this morning for pulling a revolver on and provoking his landlord, Joseph Bioehile, of 359 East Washington street.

Mr. A. N. Kelsey, formerly of this city, but now traveling for N. B. Bassett & Co., manufacturers of moulding and picture frames, of Chicago, is here visiting friends and relatives.

Weighmaster Ryan collected $170 for the city during the month of November, being $110 in excess of his salary. Mr. Ryan is an admirable public servant and one whom it is a pleasure to compliment.

Joseph Newhouse and Katie Yoder were married in the county clerk's office to-day by Judge O'Rourke. Dr. Loag and Jake Kern did honors as "best men," while Harry Metzgar and Bill Fahlsing supplied the blushes.

F. P. Sheffler, who keeps a general store at Zanesville, was a caller at THE SENTINEL office to day and reports that someone entered his store last Monday evening, blew the safe open and got away with some notes and a small amount of money.

Mr. Charles O. Essig, a popular and competent young man, has been appointed local agent of the Adams and American companies and is now in charge of the Fort Wayne office. The express people have done themselves credit and pleased our citizens.

The elephant Alice, exhibited here recently, as the readers will recall, by Barnum & Co., was burned to death. On dissecting, the stomach was found to contain 300 pennies, part of a pocket knife, four crane ferrules, a number of pebbles and a chunk of lead pipe.

The Soldene party gave a good variety show at the Temple last night. The specialties of Tierney & Wayne were the best features of the show. They have a lot of tiresome females who might be retired and pensioned without serious loss. Emily Soldene and Sara, the kicker, can be included in the list.

John Beland, John C. Bothner, Hattie Gillett, Henry Wright and Michael Wing were arraigned for drunkenness this morning. Bothner and Beland paid fines. Hattie Gillett and the other two men went to jail. Wing had a bad gash on his forehead and said he received the wound in Donnelly's saloon, on South Calhoun street. Officer Rohle found him lying in the gutter very drunk.

Mrs. C. F. Henker, wife of the South Lafayette street barber, died at 6 o'clock this morning at his home, No. 181 Montgomery street, after an illness of but twenty-four hours' duration. The cause of her death was blood poisoning. Mrs. Henker was the bride of a month, her marriage having been solemnized just thirty days ago. The lady was a niece of Capt. C. Hettler and the announcement of her death will cause widespread grief. The funeral announcement will be made later.

The sad intelligence is announced that Mr. Gil Higgins, assistant agent of the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago railroad at Delphos, Ohio, died of paralysis yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Deceased was a brother of Mr. C. R. Higgins, of this city. He was thirty years of age and leaves a wife. For years he has been a telegraph operator for the Pennsylvania company. Nearly all of that time he has been engaged at Delphos, but on several occasions has done service in this city, where he was well known. The funeral will take place on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at Delphos.

The wheelmen meet this evening.

The police officers and firemen were paid to-day.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Bash give a reception this evening.

The A. O. U. W. meets to-night in their hall over App's shoe store.

Mr. Slocum, the soloist at the concert to-night, has a tenor voice of unusual purity and sweetness.

A. Yobst and son, the butchers, were thrown from their wagon by a runaway team yesterday, but neither were seriously hurt.

The millers of northern Indiana will hold an important session here to-morrow to talk over flour prices and wheat prospects.

Mrs. Sarah E. McDonald sues H. B. Saynor for $638 back rent, and seeks his ejectment from the Windsor hotel, on South Calhoun street.

This evening at the Masonic Temple will occur the piano recital of Madame Fannie Bloomfield, under the auspices of the subscription course. The program is most artistic and the public ought to sustain the ladies who are so nobly striving to give us notable attractions.

Mr. Solomon Kell, of Perry township, has returned to his home. Mr. Kell does not deny that he has had trouble with his family, but does deny that he associated or mingled with bad women or men in this or any other city. His domestic difficulties will be patched up, and he will be himself again.

CALLING A HALT.

How Liquor Sellers Persistently Violate the Law in Selling to Drunkards.

There is not a reasonable person who will find fault with the saloon men, if the laws are observed, but when, in the face of plain statutes, these people sell liquor to drunkards and men entirely incapable of appreciating their degradation, it provokes decent people to a condemnation of the whole business.

One can sit down and count on his fingers young men, men of promise and prominence who are constantly intoxicated and running a race with rum, yet these are the men whom the dealers dispense whisky to and assist, as speedily as it is in their power, to an ignominious, untimely end, unmindful of the sorrow and heartaches of their families and their friends.

THE SENTINEL directs attention—both of the officers and liquor dealers—to this section and demands its observance:

Section 185. Whosoever sells, barters or gives away any spiritous, vinous, malt, or other intoxicating liquor, to any person at the time in a state of intoxication, knowing him to be in a state of intoxication, shall be fined not more than one hundred dollars nor less than ten dollars, to which may be added imprisonment in the county jail not more than one year nor less than thirty days, and disfranchised and rendered incapable of holding any office of trust or profit for any determined period.

HENRY NIEBERGALL.

He is Seriously Hurt in a Runaway Accident.

The horses attached to the bakery wagon of Henry Niebergall ran away this morning on Hanna street. Mr. Niebergall was thrown out and severely hurt, and the wagon was considerably damaged. Mr. Niebergall has a bakery and grocery at 201 East Washington street.

The rear portion of Mr. Niebergall's head was badly cut and it is feared his skull is fractured. He was taken to his home in a carriage and had to be carried to his bed.

The Jenney and Brush Electric Light Companies to Test Their Patents in Court.

A very important suit was placed on trial to-day in the federal court, at Indianapolis, and there is a formidable array of legal talent on each side. It is the suit of the Brush Electric Light company, of Cleveland, against Owen, Pixley & Co., proprietors of the "When" store, at Indianapolis, for an injunction to prevent them from further using their present system of electric lighting, and for damages for its use thus far, the allegation being that it is an infringement on the Brush patent. The light in use at the "When" was furnished by the Fort Wayne company, and this is a test case, which this company, the Jenney and others are interested in fighting. The complaint, answer and testimony, that has been taken by a commissioner, fill a closely-printed book of a thousand pages. Electric lighting apparatus of different kinds is being put up in the grand jury room, for use during the trial.

Judge R. S. Taylor is chief counsel for the Jenney company.

THEY CELEBRATE.

The Fort Wayne Curling and Quoiting Club Banquet.

Yesterday was the anniversary of St. Andrew's day, a day dear to the heart of, and held in commemoration by, every "lad an' lassie" born in "Bonnie Scotland," and one which even in this country is celebrated to a great extent by former natives of that land, but now citizens of the United States. The Fort Wayne Curling and Quoiting club, most of whom are Scotchmen, concluded to give due reverence to their patron saint by giving a banquet at Mr. C. L. Centlivre's last evening to all the members of the club. At the appointed hour at least twenty-five of those invited had assembled and were gathered together in groups, discussing the outlook for ice, which is so necessary for this game, now so rapidly growing in popularity and which, of all outdoor winter sports, is the most exciting, and at the same time, most healthy.

After all present, many of whom were members but lately admitted to the club, had been introduced and become thoroughly acquainted they repaired to the club hall, where a bounteous feast was in waiting.

Mr. David McKay, the president of the club, was master of ceremonies, and he was the right man in the right place. A neatly arranged program of toasts and responses was followed to the enjoyment of all present. Many of the "jolly good" Scotchmen in attendance rendered native airs in a manner to elicit the plaudits of all.

It is needless for us to say that the meeting last night was the means of giving a fresh impetus to this game of pleasant and exhiliarating sport.

The first regular game to be played will be one postponed from last year, between the married and single men of the club, and will take place as soon as the proper bed of ice is frozen. Fort Wayne is large enough to support a good club and has some as expert curlers as there are anywhere. All that is needed is to get them interested.

The following gentlemen, Messrs. J. H. Kellogg, 86 East Jefferson street; F. P. Shepler, Zanesville, Ind.; Joseph G. Voors, 175 Wells street; Joseph Westhoff, publisher of the Weltbuerger, city; Louis Hazzard, 89 Marion street, were the ones selected to supervise the award of the Grand Piano presented by Messrs. Sam, Pete & Max to the holder of ticket No. 16, the committee having decided that the fifteenth ticket drawn should take the prize, and the following numbers, 5,809, 6,116, 1,766, being the alternates to take the prize in their order, should the first number not appear in sixty days. d&wtf

THE Montreal Gazette has a novel kind of want in connection with the settlement of the fisheries question. The Canadians themselves want a good deal—pretty nearly the earth—in compensation for the privilege of fishing in their waters for cod not to be found there and for erratic mackerel which may be there or may not, as suits their roving habits. The Gazette's demand, however, is the coolest that has yet been made. Instead of expressing any desire for annexation to this country, it wants to take off a generous slice from Northern Maine and annex it to Canada as compensation for fish privileges! It says: "Canadians have long cast a longing eye on this territory, which they claim they have been cheated out of; and, though there is not the slightest probability of their claim to it being recognized, it is quite likely that the Canadian Commissioners will ask for it in return for the fishing privileges the American fishermen want." The Canadian Commissioners might as well ask for the whole of New England as for any portion of the State of Maine, or for Massachusetts, in which Maine was merged until 1820. The old boundary controversy was settled under the Washington treaty in 1842 by giving Canada a little slice in return for certain privileges of no great account, and she will have to be satisfied with that concession.

A STORY is told of the late Rev. William Drury, Vicar of Braddan, Isle of Man, to the effect that he was once on the rocks with a picnic party, when a sea bird known as a "diver" was seen on the water some little distance from the shore. The Vicar, who was then about 60 years of age, said, "Watch me catch that bird," and in a moment, without taking off any of his clothes, he rushed to the edge of the rocks and made a quick dive into the water. The bird dived too, but the Vicar caught it under the water and brought it ashore alive to the party.

FOUR O'CLOCK P. M.

BIG FLAMES!

The Great Strobridge Lithographing Company's Works, at Cincinnati, Are Burned to the Ground.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 1.—At 1:30 this morning, a general alarm was sounded and called the entire fire department to the Strobridge Lithographing company's great building on the northeast corner of Elm and Canal streets. The flames enveloped the entire building, and in less than fifty minutes the walls fell in. The loss is total and will reach $200,000.

LATER.

The building was a five story fine structure and had a frontage of over 100 feet on the north side of the canal. It was filled with costly machinery, including fifteen lithographic presses. Its stock of paper and of finished and partly finished work was very large, and is estimated to be $100,000. Most of the winter work for theatrical companies was finished, but a large portion was still in the building and a number of them will be without material to properly bill their plays. During the fire a fireman, named John Shuler, who was on a ladder thirty-five feet from the ground, missed his footing and fell to the street, and was taken to the hospital, with injuries which may prove fatal. The business was probably the largest of the kind in the world. One hundred and twenty-five men were employed. Mr. Hines Strobridge, the president of the company, says he thought the building fire proof and is astonished it should all go as it did. Those in the building as tenants were James Barclay, job printer, and the Halstead Stocking company. Their loss will be about $10,000 each. The best estimate that can be made of the total loss is about $300,000, on which there was an insurance of $150,000, but the loss on business during the time of the enforced idleness cannot be accurately estimated. The building may be regarded as a total loss. Portions of the walls are left standing, but are worthless. The fire is still burning slowly today and engines are throwing water on it.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Dec. 1.—The large Windsor hotel is on fire and, with a heavy snow storm raging, the fire promises to ruin the entire building.

His Cruel Treatment in the Tullamore Jail.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—Mr. O'Brien, in a letter smuggled from the Tullamore jail to his friend in Dublin, says: "The substance of Balfour's letter has been conveyed to me. Balfour's statement that I pleaded a weak action of the heart and delicate condition of the lungs as an excuse for not being forced to wear criminal clothes is a cruel falsehood. I am not aware of such weakness and certainly never declared it. The medical examiners never referred to this, my only weakness being in my left lung which does not trouble me at present.

"For six days after the committal I was subjected to constant threats of force, put on bread and water diet. When this proved fruitless I was led to believe that the point would not be insisted upon. Thereupon my clothes were stolen. Since securing new clothes, I have been unable to change them night or day for fear they will be stolen. No official intimation has yet been given to relieve me of this confined straw. This letter is the only means of vindicating myself against Mr. Balfours foul dishonoring imputations. Henceforth I shall not speak concerning my health. I do not take any nourshing food.

Rt. Rev. Bishop Dwenger Present at the Consecration of Father Seannel at Nashville.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 1.—Archbishop Feehan, of Chicago, who was for a long time bishop of Nashville, arrived in the city Tuesday to take part in the consecration of Father Seannel to the bishopric. The consecration was an event of the greatest interest here, as both Father Seannel and Archbishop Feehan are widely known. The ceremony took place at St. Joseph's church yesterday morning, beginning at 9 o'clock. Archbishop Feehan was assisted in the consecration services by Bishops Rademacher, of Nashville, and McCloskey, of Louisville. The sermon was by Archbishop Elder, of Covington. Bishops O'Sullivan, of Mobile, and Dwenger, of Fort Wayne, and Father Perrier, of Concordia, Kan.; Father Veale, of Memphis, and Father Walsh, of Chattanooga, took part in the ceremonies. Father Gull, of Chicago, was master of ceremonies, and acted as the archbishop's notary in the reading of the commission from the pope.

THE HARPER TRIAL.

J. W. Wilshire, the Good Looking Broker, Tells His Interesting Story on the Witness Stand.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 1.—The Harper trial was resumed this morning, with J. W. Wilshire, the good-looking broker, on the stand. His testimony, in chief, had been of the most direct nature, showing that he had purchased for Harper, in the Chicago market, about twenty millions of bushels of wheat, of which they were holding fourteen million when the crash came last June. The loss represented by the breaking of their corner was from three to four million dollars. He said he never could tell exactly what the total nominal loss was for the reason that his Chicago brokers had never rendered an account showing what had been realized on the closing out of their deal.

In every way he made it clear that Harper was his principal, that his checks on the Fidelity bank were not against any balance there to his credit, but that he was given to understand that they were to be protected by Harper. The first question asked by Major Blackburn for the defense brought out the fact that Wilshire had deposited checks aggregating $300,000 on the First National bank of this city and, $95,000 on the Merchants National bank with Fidelity where they were treated as cash.

He had not that amount of money in the two banks at the time the checks were drawn, but he did it because he was instructed so to do by Harper, whom he supposed to be abundantly able to take care of the checks. At this point the court took a recess until this afternoon.

Mr. Harper is still attended by his wife and her sister, and gives close attention to all that transpires. He has watched with eager interest the face of the witness, his broker, who has in plain words laid bare the entire transaction.

TURBULENT FRANCE.

M. Grevy Is Urged to Remain in Office to Prevent a Revolution.

PARIS, Dec. 1.—Last night a number of French statesmen urged M. Grevy to retain the presidency of the French republic, as the election of M. Ferry to the position might lead to a revolution in France.

President Grevy this forenoon informed the ministerial council that in view of the change in the situation he did not propose to make a communication to parliament to-day. M. Rouvier will announce the decision of M. Grevy to the chamber of deputies and will again tender his resignation to the cabinet. It is reported that President Grevy will shortly form a new cabinet.

The official gazette publishes the withdrawal of the resignation of Rouvier. The withdrawal was made at the request of President Grevy. Threats were made of a revolutionary demonstration in front of the chamber of deputies to-day, but they are not regarded as serious. Extensive military and police precautions have been taken however to guard against an outbreak.

THE LATEST.

PARIS, Dec. 1.—At a ministerial council this morning President Grevy informed M. Rouvier he believed public opinion is now in his favor, and that he could form a new cabinet. It is said M. Flourens is trying to name a cabinet.

2 p. m.—Chamber of deputies took a recess until 4 p. m. and again until 6 p. m. The senate adjourned until 8 p. m.

Great crowds surround the legislative building and cries for Grevy, Ferry, Boulanger and the republic are heard. The crowd is orderly. There is no sign at present of a revolution.

Big Gas Well at Xenia.

WABASH, Dec. 1.—A tremendous flow of natural gas was struck yesterday at 1 o'clock in well No. 2, at Xenia, seventeen miles southwest of this city. Trenton rock was penetrated last Saturday, and a small flow encountered. Drilling proceeded, and to-day a gusher, which rivals that at Fairmount, was opened. The well is 950 feet deep and thirty-five feet in Trenton. A blaze sixty feet high issues from the mouth of a three-inch pipe to-night, and the owner is wild with excitement.

The Prohibition Convention.

CHICAGO, Dec. 1—The national prohibition conference met this morning at battery D. Dr. Herrick Johnson was designated as president. Quite a number of topics on the program will be discussed during the day. Among the speakers are: A. B. Leonard, Ohio; Mrs. Clara Hoffman, Missouri; Mrs. Mary A. Woodbridge, Ohio, and John L. Thomas, of Washington.

An Oil Well Fire.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Dec. 1.—The oil well at Cygnet, Ohio, the greatest gusher in the Ohio field, which caught fire one week ago, burned until yesterday, when the flames were extinguished. It is estimated that 350,000 barrels of oil have been consumed.

HENRY S. IVES!

The Young Napoleon to be Arrested for Unlawfully Converting $500,000 to His Own Use.

NEW YORK, Dec 1.—Assistant District Attorney Davis is preparing a formal complaint against Henry S. Ives and George H. Stayner, which will be presented early next week to the police justice and a warrant for their arrest asked for. The complaint will be sworn to by Lawyer Charles W. Cass, who has been active in trying to get Ives and Stayner indicted on the ground that they unlawfully converted to their own use about $500,000 worth of securities of the Mineral Range Railway company, which they controlled. Ives said yesterday that he was ready whenever wanted and had no fear of the result.

Mr. Ives this morning, in regard to the statement that he is again trying to get control of the C., H. and D. railroad, says that it is untrue, and Mr. Nelson Cromwell, his assignee, also makes a similar statement.

It is learned there are two syndicates quietly working for the control of this property and that by reason of this the stock has been strongly sustained, but that these people were entirely independent of Ives.

GAS NEWS.

The Gossip of the Day About Fort Wayne.

It is said that two more local companies will ask the council to grant them the right to pipe natural gas through the streets of Fort Wayne.

It is estimated that it will cost $25,000 to pipe Auburn for distributing the natural gas. Well No 2, in Auburn, is going down rapidly. Rock was struck twenty-four feet nearer the surface than it was in the first well.

A good gas well has been struck in Huntington county, four miles south of Warren. And again the Wabash theory is exploded. Marion already has nine gas wells and two more are going down. Marion certainly has more gas than is needed for her own use.

President Charles McCulloch, of the Hamilton National bank, Hon. R. C. Bell, H. C. Graffe, A. Hattersley, B. S. O'Connor and Supt. W. W. Worthington were at Red Key this week, where they have big natural gas interests. They supply the town of Red Key with natural gas and are reaping a nice profit. This was Mr. McCulloch's first visit to the gas territory, and he is enthusiastic over the quality of natural gas there. He says it is a brighter and better illuminating gas than the manufactured gas in Fort Wayne, and what is still better, their supply is inexhaustible.

Mr. Bell, Mr. Graffe, Mr. Worthington and Mr. Hattersley, together with Hon. Wm. Fleming and John Ferguson, have big gas fields at Montpelier and own the best and closest gas territory to Fort Wayne. These syndicates must be depended on to pipe gas to Fort Wayne, if it is piped here at all.

The experiment now in progress of sinking the People's gas well with a view of striking a second layer of Trenton rock, will settle the question of the existence of gas in or near Fort Wayne.

Mr. G. W. Wernz, a prominent contractor from Auburn, came down this afternoon and said to Mr. C. A. Munson that the drillers in the second well had just encountered shale gas, with greater prospects of a gusher than the first well developed.

MRS. ED. BUSH.

She Asks $10,000 for the Killing of Her Husband in the Pittsburg Railroad Yards.

The accidental killing of Ed. Bush, a switchman in the Pittsburg and Fort Wayne railroad yards, last summer, is fresh in the minds of most people, as he was a popular man.

To-day Mrs. Bush filed suit against the Pennsylvania Railroad company, asking $10,000 damages and alleging that it was through the negligence of the company and its employes that Mr. Bush was killed.

Judge L. M. Ninde is her attorney and the action is before Judge Chapin.

The case of Elizabeth Miller vs. Jerr Newitt is on trial in the circuit court and comes from Monroeville.

"So far, so good," said the boy after eating the stolen tart. After reviewing the thousands and tens of thousands of colds and coughs that have been conquered by Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup we can readily say, so far, so good.

Frank Bear, bar tender at the Occidental, was fined $18 to day by Esquire Harding, for selling liquor last Sunday. Gerhardt Bekers is on trial before Justice France for selling liquor without a license.

Mrs. W. F. Yocum will render an organ solo at the Wayne street M. E. church, this evening.

GET OFF THE TRACK!

He Heard the Warning Cry, But It was not Heeded Until His Tramp was Finished.

The limited on the Pittsburg was an hour and a half late this morning.

The new moulding rooms of the Bass foundry are now running ninety-two men.

Four new gangs of men have been added to the east end Pittsburg car shops.

J. W. Beehler, of Lima, O., has taken a position in the Pittsburg machine shops.

The fuel bill of the Bass foundry and machine works amounts to over $20,000 a year.

Henry Welbruck, formerly with the Fort Wayne iron works, has taken a position in the Bass foundry.

The loafers at the railroad depots now gather around the hot stoves in the waiting rooms and stare at traveling people.

Frank Scheid, the Pittsburg machinist, in speaking of the horse he recently drew in the lottery says, "It can even kick a fly off its ear."

One more night has been added to the working time in the Pittsburg machine shops and the employes are now working five nights a week in that department.

President Roberts, of the Pennsylvania road, will order 50,000 tons of steel rails after January 1, and place the orders among the mills on the lines of that system.

The Olds wheel works have placed a number of new electric lights in their establishment lately so that the employes can work until 6 o'clock during the winter months.

S. C. Henderson, the foreman of the Pittsburg copper shops, has been short of gas pipes for engine lines for some time past, and now fully believes the employes, who have anarchistic tendencies, are using them up for the construction of their bombs.

There are a number of young men in the railroad service in this city who have commenced to climb the ladder of railroad promotion, and for their encouragement we desire to remind that the income of Jay Gould, the great railroad magnate, is $1,000 an hour.

C. L. Daseler, the pleasant and popular clerk in the Pittsburg car shops, will be married early in January to a charming young lady of this city, who lives in the east end. Christ has a host of friends among the boys in the shop, and they will pour congratulations upon him thick and fast.

The employes of all the railroads have had their time for the month of November sent in to headquarters and they are now anxiously waiting for the next pay day. When it comes they will still have half a month's wages due them. This arrangement always leaves a railroad man with a snug little sum to fall back on in case he should lose his situation.

The report flew around in railroad circles last evening that Michael Huntine, of the Wabash pumping department, had been found murdered in the big woods near this city. Michael left early last evening for Delphi to look after some work down there and will return to-night to hear, for the first time, of the dreadful fate that overtook him in the big woods.

Yesterday afternoon, while James Noonan, an employe in the blacksmith shops of the Bass foundry, was cutting a bar of red hot iron, a chip flew off and hit him in the eye, causing a severe and painful injury. He was compelled to quit work, and suffers so from the injury received that he will not resume his position again for several days.

J. A. Reilly, the jovial machinist in the Pittsburg shops, is in receipt of a telegram from his best girl who lives at Erie, Pa., chiding him for his neglect in writing. The telegram reads thusly: "Have you given up the ghost? Let the tender wires return me a message and not permit my best hopes to be crushed. C. O. D." The message cost "J. A." just $1.25.

The Indianapolis Journal says: "The Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago road for the next ten days cannot receive freight, except live stock and perishable goods, for any point east on account of a crowd of business. The New York, Chicago and St. Louis road also give notice that they cannot receive freight until further notice, via the Erie Dispatch, middle division, for the same reason." THE SENTINEL reporter enquired concerning the truth of the above statement at this point, and the officials of both the Pittsburg and Nickel Plate railroads says that such a blockade of freight has existed here to a certain extent. The Pittsburg company is not so much effected by it as the Nickel Plate, who have been refusing through freight from other roads for several days and have also been considerably embarrassed in the handling of their local freight. Mr. F. H. Barnard, the agent of the Nickel plate, tells our reporter that freight has accumulated to a considerable extent in their freight house here but that live stock and perishable goods have been taken care of. The blockade he says however is about over and in a few days the road will be able to handle all their freight traffic. The blockade resulted from the scarcity of cars.

GONE WRONG!

A Young Cincinnati Attorney Disappears With His Affianced Bride's Watch and a Diamond Ring.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 1.—J. L. Eichelberger, a young attorney, has been missing from his home since last Thanksgiving day, with several crooked transactions developed. Among them is obtaining a gold watch from his affianced bride, and a diamond ring from a jeweler of his acquaintance on false pretenses. Besides these, it appears that an endorsement on a note given by Eichelberger is pronounced by the endorsers to be a forgery. Eichelberger was to have been married on Thanksgiving, but postponed the ceremony until Christmas. His friends fear he has taken his life.

ST. AUGUSTINE'S ACADEMY.

A Very Pleasant School Entertainment By the Pupils.

On last Friday afternoon the senior and music classes of St. Augustine's Academy gave their annual entertainment in honor of St. Catherine of Alexandria, who confuted and converted to christianity the forty heathen philosophers assembled by order of Maximin II to dispute with her, and of St. Cecilia. Their former saint being their patron of studies; the latter of music. The church commemorates the feast of St. Cecilia on November 22, and that of St. Catherine on November 25.

Every feature of the well-selected program was so highly interesting that all present listened with breathless attention throughout the entire rendition. The ease, elegance and correctness with which the various parts were performed, give the strongest evidence that the sisters in charge of St. Augustine's Academy teach most thoroughly from the very outstart—for immediate training alone could not give such finish in composition, recitation and execution as were witnessed last Friday afternoon.

Misses M. Hedekin, A. Summers and J. Fleming deserve special mention for their marked improvement in shading and execution on the piano, also Miss M. Buckley, whose voice possesses much depth of feeling.

But in the minds of these classes the most important and pleasant feature of the evening were the very eloquent and beautiful remarks made by Very Rev. Father Brammer at the close of the entertainment, in his usual happy, effective and practical style. His words of paternal counsel and encouragement are of priceless value to the young ladies of St. Augustine's Academy and are treasured by them as such.

MASON & HAMLIN ORGANS

The cabinet Organ was introduced in its present form by Mason & Hamlin in 1861. Other makers followed in the manufacture of these instruments, but the Mason & Hamlin Organs have always maintained their supremacy as the best in the world. Mason & Hamlin offer, as demonstration of the unequalled excellence of their organs, the fact that at all of the great World's Exhibitions, since that of Paris, 1867, in competition of the best makers of all countries, they have invariably taken the highest honors. Illustrated catalogues free.

PIANOS. Mason & Hamlin's Piano Stringer was introduced by them in 1882, and has been pronounced by experts the "greatest improvement in pianos in half a century."

A circular, containing testimonials from 900 purchasers, musicians and tuners, sent, together with descriptive catalogue, to any applicant.

Pianos and organs sold for cash or easy payments; also rented.

Letter From the Assistant Foreman of the Delivery Department—A Subject in Which Thousands are Deeply Interested.

About five years ago I suffered from pain, [illegible] and weakness in the [illegible], pain in the limbs, bad taste in the mouth, disgust at food, and great mental [illegible] depression.

I live at 241 York street, Jersey City, and on arriving home one night I [illegible] a copy of the Shaker Almanac that had been left during the day. I read the article, "What is this Disease that is Coming Upon Us?" It described my symptoms and [illegible] better than I could if I had written a whole book. My trouble was indeed "like a thief in the night," for it had been stealing upon me unawares for years. I sent for a bottle of Shaker Extract of Roots or Seigel's Syrup, and before I had taken one bottle I felt the wished for relief. In a few weeks I was like my old self. I enjoyed and digested my food. My kidneys soon recovered their strength, and the urinary trouble vanished. I was well.

Millions of people need some medicine simply to act on the bowels. To them I commend Shaker Extract in the strongest possible terms. It is the gentlest, pleasantest, safest and surest purgative in the world. The most delicate women and children may take it. One point more. I have all the more confidence in this medicine because it is prepared by the Shakers. I am claim to be a religious man myself and I admire the Shakers for their zeal, consistency and strict business integrity. What they make may be trusted by the public. W. H. HALL.

THURSDAY, DEC. 1, 1887.

SENATOR GEORGE G. VEST, of Missouri, does not look to be close upon 60 years of age, and yet he is dangerously near it. If there be anything he prides himself on more than his oratory it is his youthful looks. He is one of the gentlest, jolliest, and best-natured members of the Senate, and though somewhat partisan and ready to break a lance in political debate at any moment, he has as many friends among the Republican members of the Senate as he has upon his own side of the chamber. He is not a good-looking man by any means, but he has a jaunty way of carrying himself that makes one forget that. He has a small, rotund face with a wide, straggling gray mustache half hiding the wrinkles that his years are gathering upon him, and his big, wide-brimmed dark slouch hat is the picturesque part of his apparel that he never omits.

A BOSTON man has a twin brother living in the West who looks very much like him. The other morning the Boston twin, after being shaved, went home and found there his brother, who had just come East. The Western twin needed shaving badly, and was directed to the barber-shop. He entered and seated himself, but the barber paid no attention to him. "What's the matter with you?" said the Western twin after waiting long enough. "Why don't you shave me?" "Why, I've just shaved you," said the barber. "Much you did," said the twin. "Look at my face." The barber looked at a big black beard of a week's growth, felt of it to assure himself that his eye was not deceiving him, and burst out: "If you can raise a beard like that in twenty minutes you'd better go into the mattress business."

AMONG other beauties and phenomena Griffin possesses probably the only young child in Georgia who would deliberately lie down on the railroad track for the novel pleasure of seeing a train of cars pass over his body, says the News of that city. Possibly there may be something in the nerve of the name given him by his parents that inspired Gilman Drake Tutwiler, the 5-year-old urchin who now has to be kept in the house to prevent a repetition of such action. Almost everybody has seen this child, with a gravity above his age, running around the streets, a little, fat bit of humanity, seeking knowledge and associates among men rather than among the infants, of which he is really one. One day not long ago he got on the cow-catcher of a Georgia Midland locomotive to take a ride, but fell off upon the track, where he lay while the engine and train passed over him, rising up at the rear end of the train uninjured and chuckling at the adventure. So amusing was it that a few days afterward he went down to the track and deliberately laid down in front of the locomotive, unseen by the engineer, for the purpose of repeating the episode and again succeeded in escaping without injury. But his singular predilections were discovered and he has since been forbidden the track by the maternal authority and has his freedom curtailed in a manner that must prove very irksome to his adventurous disposition.

THERE is a popular belief throughout England that only three farthings were struck in all Queen Anne's reign. Two of these farthings are supposed to be in the hands of the British Government, but the third is still in circulation and of fabulous value to the lucky man who secures it. Now the truth is that there was no less than eight different coinings of the Queen Anne's farthing, and, as far from being rare, it is worth absolutely nothing to the collector; but this fact, although published again and again, is powerless to destroy its reputation. Now and then a poor countryman finds one in his possession, and believes his fortune made until he is rudely undeceived when he tries to sell his treasure. Once a Yorkshire laborer walked all the way to London, with his wife tramping wearily by his side, solely in order to secure the highest possible bidder for the mysterious farthing which was to buy him a farm of his own. Once a shop-boy spied such a coin in his master's till, and, unable to resist the temptation, he stole it, leaving another in its place. For weeks the foolish lad went about dreaming of his good fortune, until his desire for riches overcame his prudence, and he rashly offered the prize for sale. Explanation followed, and his master learning of the transaction at once had the boy arrested. Now, although his intentions were dishonest, the latter had really stolen nothing, for the farthing he put in the till was quite as good as the one he took out, but the fame of the Queen Anne coin proved his undoing. The jury could not be brought to look upon it as a common bit of money, worth only its face value, and the unfortunate apprentice was actually found guilty of robbery and sentenced to twelve months' imprisonment, being thus punished not for the wrong he did, but for the wrong he meant to do.

JASPER DOUGLAS PYNE, the Irish member of Parliament who has shut himself up in a castle from which he harangues land-league audiences, is an Englishman by birth and is the only Englishman in the Parnellite party. His father was a Church of England clergyman. He is a tenant of the Duke of Devonshire, Lord Hartington's father, and is described as a tall, dark, distinguished-looking man with a pronounced English accent. He is a great favorite with the Southern Irish, and was elected to Parliament from his own district without opposition. He is one of the numerous Englishmen of whom the London Spectator complains. He has become more Irish than the Irish themselves.

PREHISTORIC AMERICA.

Its Legends, Monuments, and Languages—Vast Antiquity of the American Race.

Abstract of an address before the Section of Anthropology of the American Association for the Advancement of Science at New York, by Dr. Daniel G. Brinton, Vice President and Chairman of the section: The prehistoric period of America dates back from the discovery of the several parts of the continent; and the problem is to reconstruct the history of the various nations who inhabit both Americas in this period. A review of the means at our command to accomplish this divides them into six classes:

I. Legendary.—This includes the legends or traditions of the native tribes. These often bear a strong resemblance to Semitic or other Oriental myths, but the similarity is a coincidence only, and those writers are led astray who count it for more. The annals of the Mexicans, the Mayas, of Yucatan, and Quichuas, of Peru, carry us scarcely five hundred years before the voyage of Columbus, although the contrary is often stated. The more savage tribes practically remember nothing more remote than a couple of centuries.

II. Monumental.—The most famous monuments are the stone buildings of Mexico, Yucatan, and Peru. By many these are assigned an antiquity of thousands of years; but a calm weighing of the testimony places them all well within our era, and most of them within a few centuries of the discovery. The celebrated remains of Tiahuanuco, in Peru, are no exception. Much more ancient are some of the artificial shell-heaps along the coast. They contain bones and shells of extinct species, in intimate connection with stone implements and pottery. They furnish data to prove that the land was inhabited several thousand years ago.

III. Industrial.—The industrial activity of man in America may be traced by the remains of his weapons, ornaments, and tools, made of stone, bone, and shell. In most of the deposits examined, specimens of polished stone and pottery testify to a reasonably developed skill; but in the Trenton gravels and a few other localities genuine paleolithic remains have been found, putting man in America at a date coevil with the close of the glacial age, if not earlier. The vast antiquity of the American race is further proved by the extensive dissemination of maize and tobacco—tropical plants of Southern Mexico, which were cultivated from the latitude of Canada to that of Patagonia.

IV. Linguistic.—It is believed that there are about two hundred radically different languages in North and South America. Such a confusion of tongues could only have arisen in hundreds of centuries. The study of these languages and of the gradual growth of their dialects, supplies valuable data for the ancient history of the continent.

V. Physical.—The American race is as distinctively a race by itself as is the African or white race. Although varying in many points, it has a marked fixedness of ethnic anatomy, and always has had. The oldest American crania, collected from the most ancient quaternary deposits, are thoroughly American in type.

VI. Geologic. As the discovery of implements in glacial deposits locates man on this continent at least at the close of the glacial epoch, this carries his residence here to about 35,000 years ago. But there is no likelihood that he came into being on this continent. He could not have developed from any of the known fossil mammalia which dwelt here. More probably some colonies first migrated along the preglacial land-bridge, which once connected Northern America with Western Europe. Later, others came from Asia. At that time the physical geography of the Northern Hemisphere was widely different from the present.

These various data have as yet been but imperfectly studied; when they shall have received the attention they merit we may confidently calculate on a large increase in our knowledge of the course of events in ancient America.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferers at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub wakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle

Wrong

To imagine that the treatment of Constipation consists merely in unloading the bowels. The medicine must not only act as a purgative, but be a tonic as well, and not produce after its use greater costiveness. This is what Simmons Liver Regulator always does.

"As a general family remedy for Dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc., I hardly ever use anything else, and have never been disappointed in the effect produced; it seems to be almost a perfect cure for all diseases of the Stomach and Bowels."—W. J. McELROY, Macon, Ga.

Believe us, when we tell you that most of the despondent feeling (the blues) is the effect of a Torpid Liver, Indigestion, Weakness of Stomach, and Nervousness. A dose of Simmons Liver Regulator invariably relieves, cures and prevents a re-occurrence.

"I find Simmons Liver Regulator, very safe, harmless and valuable as a family medicine, and have used it for any disorder of the system and have found it to act like a charm, and I believe that if it was used in time, it would prove a great preventive of sickness. I have often recommended it to my friends, and shall continue to do so."—Rev. JAMES M. ROLLINS, Fairfield, Va.

Simmons Liver Regulator is given with safety and with the happiest results, in almost any ailment, to the most delicate infant as well as to the adult. For all diseases in which a laxative, alterative, or purgative is needed, it will give the most perfect satisfaction. It is the cheapest, purest and best Family Medicine in the world.

Price $1. Sold by all Druggists. Prepared by J. H. ZEILIN & Co., Philadelphia, Pa.

The treatment of many thousands of cases of those chronic weaknesses and distressing ailments peculiar to females, at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., has afforded a vast experience in nicely adapting and thoroughly testing remedies for the cure of woman's peculiar maladies.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the outgrowth, or result, of this great and valuable experience. Thousands of testimonials, received from patients and from physicians who have tested it in the more aggravated and obstinate cases which had baffled their skill, prove it to be the most wonderful remedy ever devised for the relief and cure of suffering women. It is not recommended as a "cure-all," but as a most perfect Specific for woman's peculiar ailments.

As a powerful, invigorating tonic, it imparts strength to the whole system, and to the womb and its appendages in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, exhaustion, prostration, hysteria, spasms and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womb. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a legitimate medicine, carefully compounded by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate organization. It is purely vegetable in its composition and perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system. For morning sickness, or nausea, from whatever cause arising, weak stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia and kindred symptoms, its use, in small doses, will prove very beneficial.

"Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of leucorrhea, excessive flowing, painful menstruation, unnatural suppressions, prolapsus, or falling of the womb, weak back, "female weakness," anteversion, retroversion, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb, inflammation, pain and tenderness in ovaries, accompanied with "internal heat."

As a regulator and promoter of functional action, at that critical period of change from girlhood to womanhood, "Favorite Prescription" is a perfectly safe remedial agent, and can produce only good results. It is equally efficacious and valuable in its effects when taken for those disorders and derangements incident to that later and most critical period, known as "The Change of Life."

"Favorite Prescription," when taken in connection with the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and small laxative doses of Dr. Pierce's Purgative Pellets (Little Liver Pills), cures Liver, Kidney and Bladder diseases. Their combined use also removes blood taints, and abolishes cancerous and scrofulous humors from the system.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee, from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years.

Large bottles (100 doses) $1.00, or six bottles for $5.00.

DRAWBACKS TO THE NATION.

It Cannot Develop While Detectives Hold Requisitions for Leading Citizens.

[Dakota Bell.]

"You wanter know what's holdin' this country back, d'ye?" said a man in Green River City, Wyoming who had a beard like a woven-wire mattress which had been struck by a cyclone and rolled together as a scroll; "you ask what's holdin' it down," he continued, as he led me over by a faro table which was not in use; "you desire information as to what's retardin' its development an' causin' it to languish by the wayside, as it were? I can tell you, stranger. I can sum it up in two words an' give it to you at one dose. It is Eastern detectives—bloodhounds of the law, that drag away our most successful citizens!

"What can you expect of a country where the Eastern detective comes in and demands requisitions for all the leadin' citizens? With the icy hand of the detective laid on the Mayors of our principal cities, how can our country develop? With the Pennsylvania Sheriff sneakin' up behind the president of our national bank and identifyin' him, how can you look for progress?

"As long as one of Pinkerton's men can come into our otherwise peaceful an' prosperous communities, look at a photograph, an' then adjust a pair of time-lock handcuffs on the principal of our schools, how can you come among us an' ask us with a holler sneer why we don't boom?

"Stranger, what is there to induce us to git up an' whoop an' develop the country, with leg irons on the pastor of the First Baptist Church?

"Why should we invest our money in business with a Sheriff from Massachusetts an' a detective from Ohio each with separate warrants an' each on a fast hoss chasin' our Probate Jedge acrost the divide?

"Why should I feel encouraged an' cheerful with the City Attorney bein' tried in North Carolina? Would you yourself feel like settlin' down in a country an' makin' a home with the Superintendent of the Union Sunday-School gittin' onto the east-bound train chained to the editor of the mornin' paper?

"My friend, I don't think you would; I am pos'tive you would not, 'specially if you didn't know but what it might be your turn next, as you probly would.

"This country can never become thickly and permanently settled as long as the Eastern officer who has raked up some old charge agin a prom'nent member of the community can walk in an' ply his vocation unrestrained by the strong arm of the law. As long as it is possible, while a meetin' of the leadin' cap'talists is bein' held to devise means for establishin' a woolen factory or to raise a bonus for a new railroad, as long as it is possible on such an occasion, I repeat, for a paid spy from a rival town to sneak in the back door of the hall an' yell: 'Eastern detective comin!' an' then stand and watch the president of the savin's bank an' the Circuit Jedge break their legs as they fall out of the winder an subsequently git tramped into the ground by the crowd; as long as this is poss'ble, I again say, jes' so long will progress languish.

"While a man can stand in our theater an' holler 'fire!' an' not cause anybody to look around, an' another man can stampede the audience acrost the stage by pullin' out a paper an' a pair of handcuffs, jes' so long will our nat'ral resources remain dormant, as it were.

"When you go into the country where it is to the people's interest to pay a man to stand at the depot an' holler a warnin' to the bus'ness men when a stranger gits off the train, you may look to find that country undeveloped an' not be disap'inted.

"That, my friend, is about all I've got to say. That is about all there is to it. If you had, like me, lived to see the iron hand of the minion of the law from the other side of the Mississippi reach up an' lay holt of the Fourth of July orator; if you had seen it still the Mayor while addressin' the City Council; if you had ever stood by an' seen it even come into the Sunday-school picnic, an' while the Superintendent was addressin' the infant class, reach ruthlessly out an' drag him away on a charge of arson, committed back in Maine in 1868; if you had ever witnessed such scenes as them, I say, you would never have asked why this country is not built up an' made to prosper. It only shows your ignorance, an' I hope you won't ask any more such foolish questions."

Syrup of Figs.

Manufactured only by the California Fig Syrup Co., San Francisco, Cal., is Nature's own true laxative. This pleasant California liquid fruit remedy may be had of Theime and Gross, druggists, large bottles at fifty cents or one dollar. It is the most pleasant, prompt, and effective remedy known to cleanse the system; to act on the Liver, Kidneys, and bowels gently yet thoroughly; to dispel Headaches, Colds and Fevers; to cure Constipation, Indigestion, and kindred ills.

An outward gift which is seldom despised, except by those to whom it has been refused.—Gibbon.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

I have been bothered with catarrh for about twenty years; I had lost sense of smell entirely for the last fifteen years, and I had almost lost my hearing. My eyes were getting so dim I had to get some one to thread my needle. Now I have my hearing as well as I ever had, and I can see to thread as fine a needle as ever I did, my sense of smell is partly restored, and it seems to be improving all the time. I think there is nothing like Ely's Cream Balm for catarrh.—Mrs. E. E. Grimes, 67 Valley St., Rendrill, Perry Co., Ohio.

Hen Talk.

As an example of bird language, the ordinary domestic fowl presents the most interesting and perfect range, so common that it is rarely considered or reflected upon; not a few will be astonished at the vocal possibilities of the hen if they will give the subject a little investigation.

Knowing that the hen has a voice, we assume that its office is to afford communication between individuals. Half an hour in a farmyard will beyond question demonstrate this, and that certain sounds are the equivolents of words. The crow of a cock is assuredly a challenge, the moment another bird is noticed, and is kept up, either in advance or retreat. It is sounded in the morning in answer to others, and is comparable to the challenge or war cry of many savage tribes, or even the answering shouts of college boys or men, that are unexplainable on other grounds than a challenge of merits.

Observing closely our rooster, accompanied by his family, we notice that the hens pay no attention to the challenge; but let him find some delicacy, he utters a succession of short notes, "Tuck, tuck, tuck, tuck!" upon which the others rush about him, eager to share. Again if a hawk flies overhead, the cock, guardian of the flock, raises his head and utters a prolonged note, as different from the former as possible: "Ka-r-r-r-e," he seems to say, which translated into English means, "Look out for the hawk! run!" and immediately hens and chickens duck their heads and rush for cover. Now let a dog dart at the head of this family, and listen to the clucks and other sounds coming fast and furious protests in every intonation.

The hen cannot crow, but she has in other respects as perfect control of language as her master. Indeed, she can sing; purely a self-congratulatory performance expressive of deep contentment and complete satisfaction, heard when hens are let out and they are running for food, and upon warm days in spring it is a "kerr, kerr, kerr," differing in its modulation and intonation in individuals. How different is this from the sharp "cluck, cluck" of the mother-hen. The latter is a general warning to everybody, and plainly says, "I have a young family and must be let alone." If a grain is found how suddenly that is changed to the quick call, "Tuck, tuck, tuck!" upon hearing which the little ones come rushing pell-mell; and they understand it the moment they leave the shell. Indeed, the different notes or "baby talk" of a hen are of great variety. "No one would think of saying that the 'cut-cut-ca-da-cut' was a call. It says as plain as words can tell, "I have laid an egg," and the bright little egg-hunter who hears immediately starts for the hay-loft, as a favorite hound of mine was in a habit of doing. She understood hen language, and fed upon freshly laid eggs some time before I discovered that she was such a linguist. The moment "cut-cut-ca-da-cut" was heard she trotted into the hen-coop.

When the little chicks are nestled under the mother another sound is heard, a prolonged hoarse "c-r-a-w-z-z-e, c-r-a-w-z-z-e," which I copy from a happy mother in my possession, without the aid of a phonograph. Enter a chicken-coop at night, and a soft whistling noise is made, a gentle chirping by the birds, sounding something like "w-h-o-i-e," rapidly repeated, that speaks plainly of apprehension. If a chicken is seized by the leg the "c-r-a-i-a-i-o-n, c-r-a-i-a-i-o-n" that follows could never be constructed into anything but a wail of anguish. So if we commence a dictionary of the domestic fowl-language we might have the following as a basis:

Ur-ka-do-dle-do-o-o. Challenge of male.

Tuck, tuck, tuck. Food call of male.

K-a-r-r-e. Announcing presence of hawk.

Cut-cut-ca-da-cut. Announcement of egg-laying.

Cluck, cluck, cluck. Call of young.

Kerr, kerr, kerr. Song of contentment of hen.

C-r-a-w-z-z-e. Quieting young chicks.

W-h-o-o-i-e (whistle). Expression of apprehension at night.

C-r-a-i-a-i-o-n. Terror and protest of capture.

These sounds of course vary in individuals; that is in the intonation, as, like persons, no two birds can utter the same vocal sounds.—C. F. Holder, in Wide Awake.

THE BEST WAY.

A hurt to any part of the body by contusion, caused by coming in contact violently with some other body, the contused blood in the part injured showing a dark mark to the extent of the hurt, is a bruise. As to the effect of such injuries, great or small, natural action is disturbed, the veins are clogged, circulation impeded, congestion sets in and pains ensue. Nature is impatient of any impediment to its regular order; it tries to force the circulation through its proper channels thus clogged and pain intensifies. It may in minor hurts after long and painful efforts restore the functions and by slow degrees heal itself, but pain is its signal of distress, and the greater the pain the louder it calls for help, and so long as pain lasts, it needs that help. What is that help? Something that will penetrate deeply, stimulate and soothe, and by vigorous applications subdue the congestion. With nature's aid it clears away the obstructions, heals the injured tissue and restores. How quickly this can be done is seen in the rapid disappearance of the black marks, and this is the specific action, the healing process of St. Jacobs Oil. It is the thing needed and just what nature calls for in the cure of bruises, as thousands testify who have tried it. But the conditions in cuts and wounds are a little different, although the principles of healing are the same. The tissues are separated, lacerated and torn apart, besides being bruised, and nature's effort is intensified in trying to bring the parts together to begin the process of healing. Hardly any one would pour into a gaping wound a remedy for relief, but so soon as nature brings together the parts and they adhere, which is almost instantly, St. Jacobs Oil, used in accordance with directions for use which accompany every bottle, will magically knit together these parts and confirm the action of nature by a perfect cure.

Daily Sentinel

THE CITY NEWS.

This is the first day of December.

The hotels are doing a brisk business.

Coffee is named after Mount Caffa, Abyssinia.

The Academy drew another big house last night.

Secure seats for "Photos." The sale began this morning with a rush.

One side of Calhoun street is laid with cedar blocks and the other is not.

Mr. A. C. Trentman and Mr. Hubert Bergdoff went west on the Wabash this morning.

Mrs. George Franz, of No. 72 Melita street, has gone to Lawrenceburg, Ind., to visit her parents.

Pensions have been granted to the widow of John Carey, of Roanoke, just west of Fort Wayne.

The Clement A. Roy counterfeiting case has been transferred from Indianapolis to this city for trial.

"One of the Bravest" party, a successful Academy attraction, went to Wapakaneta, Ohio, this morning.

A correspondent to the Ligonier Banner is booming Charley Green, treasurer of Noble county, for congress.

The grand melodrama, "Lights of London," will be presented at the Masonic Temple Tuesday, Dec. 6.

Miss Alice Harrison, supported by her own company of comedians, will present "Photos" at the Temple Saturday evening.

The Warsaw Times calls a halt on Speaker Sayre, and requests in a roundabout way that he cease airing his notions.

Parties living along the mail route to Hall's Corners are circulating a petition for the extension of the service to Hicksville, O., a distance of ten miles.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Evans, of 236 Hanna street, returned home to-day after a two week's stay at Crestline, Ohio, where they had been called on account of sickness.

The Soldene party went to Lima, O., this morning. The people of "One of the Bravest" were on the same train, but never speak as the telegraph poles flit pleasantly by.

Monday, Dec. 12, the voters of Columbia City will vote upon the question, "city or no city." This will be the third time the effort has been made to change the form of government in that town.

Hiram Wenst, of Wabash, one of J. E. Dane's gang of Wabash railroad bridge carpenters, was severely injured at the new freight depot, at Huntington, yesterday. He was at work upon a scaffold and fell ten feet.

Cars on the side track of the Fort Wayne, Cincinnati and Louisville road at Montpelier ran upon the main track. The local freight came along and run into them. Five cars were wrecked and the engine slightly damaged.

The Emily Soldene company advertised the celebrated Dare brothers, acrobats. They failed to put in an appearance last night, and consequently the audience was cheated out of one of the best features of the performance. The management offered no excuse for their absence.

The Warsaw Times says: "Thereon P. Keator passed through this place this morning on his way to Goshen, South Bend and other points in northern Indiana, and while here he gave us a brief call. Mr. Keator possesses the ability to enliven the sanctum of most any newspaper establishment, and we were pleased to see him."

Thomas J. Immel, W. W. Dukes and Milton Shirk, owners of the canal at Lafayette, who were indicted by the grand jury on the charge of maintaining a nuisance, have been arrested and are now under bond to appear in the circuit court there next Saturday, Dec. 3, to answer that charge.

Since Thursday last, Wm. Shafer and Frank Arlin have been on trial at Columbia City for attempting to kill James Washburn on the night of October 17th. The theory of the prosecution was, that there was a conspiracy to do the killing, between Rouse, Arlin and Shafer. The jury fined Arlin and Shafer $100 each and sent them to jail for six months. T. J. Logan, of Fort Wayne, reported the evidence.

The Florida orange is making its appearance in the market. Now the choicest Florida orange is that which grows in the vicinity of the Black river, and has a dark tinge upon its cuticle, as if half-shined by an itinerant boot-black. But the ingenious Dago, being well aware of this fact, so artfully arranges that all of his Florida oranges present the most desirable dark-skinned appearance. Nor is this all. After the Florida orange passes away there takes its place as the choice feature of the market the little blood-red orange, sweet and juicy as a hasheesh dream. These the artists manufacture by inserting in the neck of a white orange a tiny glass syringe, filled with a sweetened analine dye. So wags the world away.

Our readers will remember the cold wave that struck us last Saturday a week. The Portland Sun, published in a gas town, tells how it worked there: "A cold wave swooped down upon us, Saturday night, and on Sunday morning there was consternation, dismay and cuss words all over the city, caused by a sudden and provoking failure of the gas in many instances, to supply heat for cooking and warming purposes. The quiet of the Sabbath day was broken by the bustle to keep warm, and old boards, pine boxes, and everything burnable was searched, up to the legs of the kitchen table. It seems the gas pipes were frozen up where exposed and which caused the trouble."

Madam Bloomfield at the Temple to-night.

Deputy County Treasurer Cas Hunter is quite sick.

Mr. E. J. Pennington is out of the city on business.

Mr. H. J. Parry, of the Hoosier shoe store, was at Bluffton yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dreibelbiss will entertain the Baptist social to-night.

Summit City Lodge, No. 170, F. and A. M., elect officers to-morrow night.

The county commissioners will meet in regular December session next Monday.

Fleming & Pape have erected a three story addition to their road scraper works.

Rockhill Bros. and Fleming shipped a fine Strathmore colt to Lima, Ohio, yesterday.

Sammy Albrecht, of the News office, has taken a position in the Old New National bank.

Shone & Wellman have a novel exhibition of artificial flowers in the show window of their mortuary room.

John Lehnemann, the son of Mrs. Lehnemann, a widow living in Nebraska, was taken to the city hospital to-day

Mr. C. B. Woodworth said the workmen expected to begin work on the new gas well on the Brookside farm to-day.

Mrs. Justina Bosent, of Arcola, died of peritonitis, yesterday morning, aged sixty-six years. The funeral occurred to-day.

Mrs. W. T. Yocum, Miss Ida Kellogg and Miss Julia Wilson participate in the concert at the Wayne street M. E. church to-night.

Mrs. Tony DeWald pleasantly entertained the ladies of L'Orphelin club yesterday afternoon at her home on Fairfield avenue.

Another hitch is announced in the Wabash reorganization scheme, which it was thought a week ago would be effected at once.

Mary J. Greenwell sues W. S. Hunter et al. for a partition of the estate of Wm. T. Hunter. W. G. Colerick is counsel for the plaintiff.

Dr. A. J. Laubach, executor of the estate of Dr. Trexler, sues C. M. Comparet for $200. W. G. Colerick is counsel for the claimant.

Mrs. C. B. Oakley is entertaining her son, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Franklin, who have won much fame before the foot lights in comedy business.

The funeral of Washington Hill, the young man who was killed by falling off of a building at St. Louis a few days ago, took place this afternoon at Aboite.

Phillip Froelick was fined $10 by the mayor this morning for pulling a revolver on and provoking his landlord, Joseph Buchille, of 359 East Washington street.

Mr. A. N. Kelsey, formerly of this city, but now traveling for N. B. Bassett & Co., manufacturers of moulding and picture frames, of Chicago, is here visiting friends and relatives.

Weighmaster Ryan collected $170 for the city during the month of November, being $110 in excess of his salary. Mr. Ryan is an admirable public servant and one whom it is a pleasure to compliment.

Joseph Newhouse and Katie Yoder were married in the county clerk's office to-day by Judge O'Rourke. Dr. Long and Jake Kern did honors as "best men," while Harry Metzgar and Bill Fahlsing supplied the blushes.

F. P. Sheffler, who keeps a general store at Zanesville, was a caller at THE SENTINEL office to-day and reports that someone entered his store last Monday evening, blew the safe open and got away with some notes and a small amount of money.

Mr. Charles O. Emig, a popular and competent young man, has been appointed local agent of the Adams and American companies and is now in charge of the Fort Wayne office. The express people have done themselves credit and pleased our citizens.

The elephant Alice, exhibited here recently, as the readers will recall, by Barnum & Co., was burned to death. On dissecting, the stomach was found to contain 300 pennies, part of a pocket knife, four crane ferrules, a number of pebbles and a chunk of lead pipe.

The Soldene party gave a good variety show at the Temple last night. The specialties of Tierney & Wayne were the best features of the show. They have a lot of tiresome females who might be retired and pensioned without serious loss. Emily Soldene and Sara, the kicker, can be included in the list.

John Beland, John C. Bothner, Hattie Gillett, Henry Wright and Michael Wing were arraigned for drunkenness this morning. Bothner and Beland paid fines. Hattie Gillett and the other two men went to jail. Wing had a bad gash on his forehead and said he received the wound in Donnelly's saloon, on South Calhoun street. Officer Rohle found him lying in the gutter very drunk.

Mrs. C. F. Henker, wife of the South Lafayette street barber, died at 6 o'clock this morning at his home, No. 181 Montgomery street, after an illness of but twenty-four hours' duration. The cause of her death was blood poisoning. Mrs. Henker was the bride of a month, her marriage having been solemnized just thirty days ago. The lady was a niece of Capt. C. Hettler and the announcement of her death will cause widespread grief. The funeral announcement will be made later.

The sad intelligence is announced that Mr. Gil Higgins, assistant agent of the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago railroad at Delphos, Ohio, died of paralysis yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Deceased was a brother of Mr. C. R. Higgins, of this city. He was thirty years of age and leaves a wife. For years he has been a telegraph operator for the Pennsylvania company. Nearly all of that time he has been engaged at Delphos, but on several occasions has done service in this city, where he was well known. The funeral will take place on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at Delphos.

This evening at the Masonic Temple will occur the piano recital of Madame Fannie Bloomfield, under the auspices of the subscription course. The program is most artistic and the public ought to sustain the ladies who are so nobly striving to give us notable attractions.

Mr. Solomon Kell, of Perry township, has returned to his home. Mr. Kell does not deny that he has had trouble with his family, but does deny that he associated or mingled with bad women or men in this or any other city. His domestic difficulties will be patched up, and he will be himself again.

CALLING A HALT.

How Liquor Sellers Persistently Violate the Law in Selling to Drunkards.

There is not a reasonable person who will find fault with the saloon men, if the laws are observed, but when, in the face of plain statutes, these people sell liquor to drunkards and men entirely incapable of appreciating their degradation, it provokes decent people to a condemnation of the whole business.

One can sit down and count on his fingers young men, men of promise and prominence who are constantly intoxicated and running a race with rum, yet these are the men whom the dealers dispense whisky to and assist, as speedily as it is in their power, to an ignominious, untimely end, unmindful of the sorrow and heartaches of their families and their friends.

THE SENTINEL directs attention—both of the officers and liquor dealers—to this section and demands its observance:

Section 185. Whosoever sells, barters or gives away any spirituous, vinous, malt, or other intoxicating liquor, to any person at the time in a state of intoxication, knowing him to be in a state of intoxication, shall be fined not more than one hundred dollars nor less than ten dollars, to which may be added imprisonment in the county jail not more than one year nor less than thirty days, and disfranchised and rendered incapable of holding any office of trust or profit for any determined period.

HENRY NIEBERGALL.

He Is Seriously Hurt In a Runaway Accident.

The horses attached to the bakery wagon of Henry Niebergall ran away this morning on Hanna street. Mr. Niebergall was thrown out and severely hurt, and the wagon was considerably damaged. Mr. Niebergall has a bakery and grocery at 201 East Washington street.

The rear portion of Mr. Niebergall's head was badly cut and it is feared his skull is fractured. He was taken to his home in a carriage and had to be carried to his bed.

A BIG SUIT.

The Jenney and Brush Electric Light Companies to Test Their Patents in Court.

A very important suit was placed on trial to-day in the federal court, at Indianapolis, and there is a formidable array of legal talent on each side. It is the suit of the Brush Electric Light company, of Cleveland, against Owen, Pixley & Co., proprietors of the "When" store, at Indianapolis, for an injunction to prevent them from further using their present system of electric lighting, and for damages for its use thus far, the allegation being that it is an infringement on the Brush patent. The light in use at the "When" was furnished by the Fort Wayne company, and this is a test case, which this company, the Jenney and others are interested in fighting. The complaint, answer and testimony, that has been taken by a commissioner, fill a closely-printed book of a thousand pages. Electric lighting apparatus of different kinds is being put up in the grand jury room, for use during the trial.

Judge R. S. Taylor is chief counsel for the Jenney company.

THEY CELEBRATE.

The Fort Wayne Curling and Quoiting Club Banquet.

Yesterday was the anniversary of St. Andrew's day, a day dear to the heart of, and held in commemoration by, every "lad an' lassie" born in "Bonnie Scotland," and one which even in this country is celebrated to a great extent by former natives of that land, but now citizens of the United States. The Fort Wayne Curling and Quoiting club, most of whom are Scotchmen, concluded to give due reverence to their patron saint by giving a banquet at Mr. C. L. Centlivre's last evening to all the members of the club. At the appointed hour at least twenty-five of those invited had assembled and were gathered together in groups, discussing the outlook for ice, which is so necessary for this game, now so rapidly growing in popularity and which, of all outdoor winter sports, is the most exciting, and at the same time, most healthy.

After all present, many of whom were members but lately admitted to the club, had been introduced and become thoroughly acquainted they repaired to the club hall, where a bountcous feast was in waiting.

Mr. David McKay, the president of the club, was master of ceremonies, and he was the right man in the right place. A neatly arranged program of toasts and responses was followed to the enjoyment of all present. Many of the "jolly good" Scotchmen in attendance rendered native airs in a manner to elicit the plaudits of all.

It is needless for us to say that the meeting last night was the means of giving a fresh impetus to this game of pleasant and exhiliarating sport.

The first regular game to be played will be one postponed from last year, between the married and single men of the club, and will take place as soon as the proper bed of ice is frozen. Fort Wayne is large enough to support a good club and has some as expert curlers as there are anywhere. All that is needed is to get them interested.

The following gentlemen, Messrs. J. H. Kellogg, 86 East Jefferson street; F. P. Shepler, Zanesville, Ind.; Joseph G. Voors, 175 Wells street; Joseph Westhoff, publisher of the Westbuerger, city; Louis Hazzard, 30 Marion street, were the ones selected to supervise the award of the Grand Piano presented by Messrs. Sam, Pete & Max to the holder of ticket No. 16, the committee having decided that the fifteenth ticket drawn should take the prize, and the following numbers, 5,809, 6,116, 1,766, being the alternates to take the prize in their order, should the first number not appear in sixty days. d&wtf
